

STORM MOVES ON CALIFORNIA COAST

Guilty Plea Ends Frozen Fruit Case

LONG LEGAL BATTLE IS CONCLUDED

All the fuss and furor over Ed Mills and Jerry Miller, who should try them on the frozen fruit packing charge, went to naught today, at Anaheim.

Mills and Miller pleaded guilty to the charge. They were scheduled to receive sentence from Justice J. T. Hayden, of Tustin, late today.

Sought New Judge

After a jury at the first trial, held before Justice Charles Kuebel, of Anaheim, stood deadlocked, six to six, the prosecution demanded another judge for the second trial.

'BEAM' STATION LEASE SIGNED

With the signing of a 10-year lease on Irvine property for installation of a radio and directional beam station, Orange County has become a link in the national aviation circuit.

Lease for three acres of land just east of Newport Road, was signed Friday by James Irvine, owner of the property and a representative of the federal government. Equipment for the $25,000 station has been ordered and will be shipped immediately.

Joins Chain

The beam to be installed on the property will link up with beams at Oceanside and Saugus and can be turned directly on the runway of the present Eddie Martin Airport and on the runway of the airport when it eventually is moved to a new location.

Seven men will be assigned for duty with the radio beam station and will have their headquarters at the Eddie Martin Airport. Until the airport is moved to a new location made necessary through extension of South Main street the control room of the station will be located in the airport office. When the airport is moved a separate building will be constructed for operation of the station.

ELECT PHIL BROWN TO STATE POSITION

The Santa Ana Business Men's Association was honored Saturday by the election of Phil Brown, secretary-manager of the organization, as a director of the Associated Credit Bureaus of California. The election for a two-year term marked the closing session of a two day convention of the state organization held in Los Angeles.

The organization to which Brown was elected director comprises 100 credit bureaus in California, including bureaus in Los Angeles, San Francisco, Oakland, San Diego and Sacramento.

FRUIT PROGRAM DISCUSSED

FRESNO, Cal., Jan. 31.—(UP)—Tentative plans for the operation of the 1938 deciduous fruit size regulation program were drawn up here today at a meeting of Fresno district fruit shippers.

R. W. Gray, of Sacramento, manager of the California Tree Fruit Marketing agreement, advised the shippers of regulations under the agreement for sizing and standardization of deciduous fruits.

ALL IS CONFUSION AS JUDGE DISCOVERS 2 TOO MANY IDAS

Ida Burnett isn't a very common name, so it was surprising to find two of them reporting for one jury job in superior court today, and not very surprising that both had responded when the name was put down for jury service.

Presiding Judge James L. Allen, as customary, greeted the new panel today with the question whether any of them had excuses to present for dismissal from service.

"Who's Who?"

A woman stood up in the rear of the courtroom. "I'm Ida Burnett, of Anaheim," she said. "I have four young children and they need me at home. I'd like to be excused."

"Very well," said the court, "Ida Burnett will be excused."

"But wait, your honor!"

Another woman was standing near the front of the room. She

Crew Saved As Trawler Hits Rocks

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 31.—(UP)—Eight fishermen were saved from death in a daring rescue by coast guardsmen today three minutes before their doomed trawler smashed to pieces in a 60-mile an hour gale a mile north of Point Reyes.

The trawler, E. Antoni, owned by Standard Fisheries, wallowed helplessly several hours in 20-foot waves after a fishing net fouled her propeller.

The crew sent up distress flares as the craft drifted toward rocks on the breaker line.

Fight Huge Waves

Coast guardsmen stationed at Point Reyes saw the flares. Capt. John Buckley and Officers F. E. Dewey, Alex. Stone and Thomas Jackson manned a lifeboat and fought their way through crashing surf to the side of the stricken boat.

While the two small boats tossed out of control on huge waves, seven members of the crew were transferred to the rescue craft.

A wave caught the rescue boat and broke it up on the beach. The fishermen and coast guardsmen struggled ashore, then noticed that one of the crew was missing.

FEAR FOR LIFE OF MISSING BOY

UKIAH, Cal., Jan. 31.—(UP)—The fresh tracks of a big mountain lion were found today beside the footprints of a small boy in the Mendocino mountains near Covelo, causing fears that four year old Ted Thompson, missing since Saturday from his parents' cabin, was the victim of a wild mountain animal.

A pack of hunting dogs was taken to the rugged, isolated region and pressed in the widespread search for the child and the panther.

125 Join Search

The tracks of the boy and the animal were found by members of the 125 man searching posse who have been hunting for the boy since he wandered away from the cabin of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thompson.

The tracks were imprinted in moist earth near the Thompson cabin, 10 miles north of Covelo.

Searchers feared the animal may have attacked and dragged the child into the forest. There was no further trace of the boy beside the

OFFICERS PROBE 'MINING SWINDLE'

Arrested in connection with what police termed "a huge mining swindle," C. J. Stillson, 68, of 115 North Janss street, Anaheim, was in the Orange county jail today accused of having sold approximately 25,000 shares of stock in a defunct company. He is expected to be turned over this afternoon to officers of San Diego, where the warrant for his arrest was issued.

According to Deputy Sheriff Fred Humiston and James Musick, who took Stillson in custody, the stock Stillson is alleged to have sold was in a company that has been defunct since 1927. The formal charge is grand theft.

WRIGHT MAY TAKE STAND LATE TODAY

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 31.—(UP)—Paul A. Wright, aviation executive on trial for the murders of his wife and a friend, John Kimmel, will describe for the jury today or tomorrow the embrace in which he claims to have surprised them.

Wright is the only man alive who witnessed the scene that shocked him, he said, to shoot down pretty Mrs. Evelyn Wright and Kimmel when he came upon them sitting or reclining on the piano bench of his home about 4 a. m. on last Nov. 9.

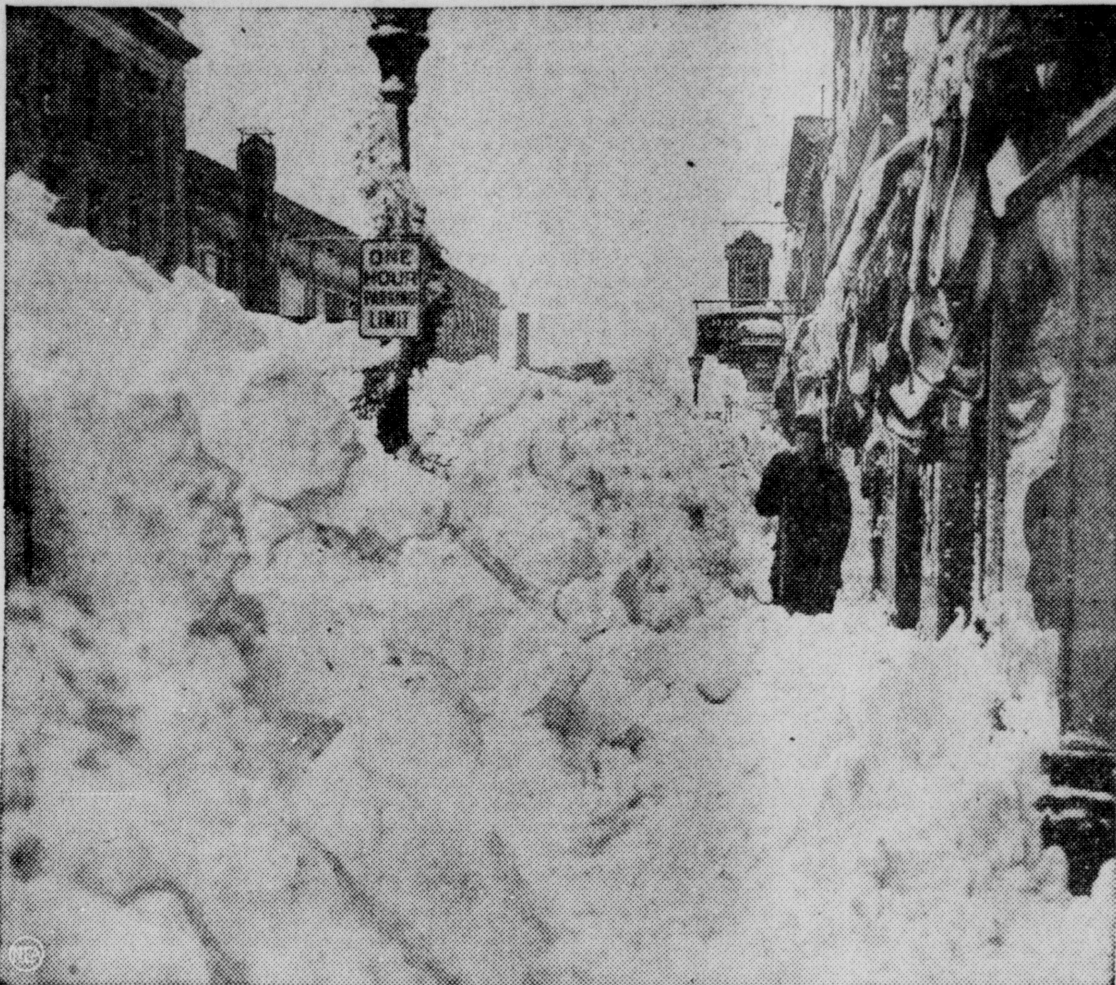

Defense Attorney Jerry Giesler shortened his list of character witnesses and there was a chance that Wright might be called to testify this afternoon, although it was probable that this climax to the trial would be put off until tomorrow.

Plan Service For Former Bank Head

SAN FERNANDO, Cal., Jan. 31.—(UP)—Private funeral services were held today for Frank P. Grant, 80, retired bank president, who died at his home here Saturday.

Grant came here 25 years ago and established the First National Bank of San Fernando, now a Bank of America branch. He is survived by his wife and a son, Barton Grant.

Admiral Leahy Tells Congressmen America's Navy Is "Inadequate"

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—(UP)—Admiral William D. Leahy, chief of naval operations, told the house today that Japan and Great Britain have "completely upset" the old 5-5-3 naval ratio and unless the United States increases its navy its fleet will soon be "insufficient security against attack from overseas."

Leahy was the opening witness at hearings on the bill of Chairman Carl Vinson, D. Ga., for an $800,000,000 20 per cent increase in the navy's fighting strength, including three additional battleships and 44 other new combatant vessels.

Not An Aggressive Navy

Leahy, said, however, that the increases proposed, which are in line with the recommendations of President Roosevelt, are insufficient to make the navy an adequate aggressor in foreign waters. Such a navy, he pointed out, would require increases "at least three times" as large as those proposed.

"A navy cannot be created on the outbreak of war," Leahy said. "The largest ships take at least three years to build."

Even the proposed increases, he contended, would not be sufficient to create a fleet capable of protecting both coasts at once.

Report 500 Slaughtered In Air Raid

BARCELONA, Jan. 31.—(UP)—Weary gangs of civilian men toiled throughout the night and into today digging bodies from debris in the old quarter of Barcelona after two Nationalist air raids Sunday. Officially the death list, including only bodies found up to 10 o'clock last night, was 153, including 47 children, with 106 wounded, including 43 women. But morgue officials only an hour later said they had 288 bodies. Unofficial estimates put the probable total of deaths at 500.

Six Nationalist airplanes raided the old quarter, with its narrow, crooked streets and ancient buildings, at 9 a. m. Sunday. Casualties then were heavy. Volunteers crowded in to aid in removing dead and wounded. At 11 a. m. nine more planes swept overhead and bombed the same quarter.

Rescuers Bombed

This time rescue workers were caught. Long after the planes had gone Red Cross workers and stretcher bearers could be seen wandering about the ruined streets, dazed and bleeding. As they recovered their senses, they bandaged each other and went back to work.

In an official communique, the government said that the raiding planes came from the direction of the Balearic Islands. It was asserted that one of the planes in the

JAPAN SORRY; SENDS REGRETS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—(UP)—The United States today accepted a satisfactory expression of regret from the Japanese government for the slapping of John M. Allison, American consul, by a Japanese soldier at Nanking.

The state department announced that it had accepted the Japanese regrets as "satisfactory." Allison, American consul and third secretary of the embassy at Nanking, was slapped Jan. 26.

The Japanese government conveyed its "profound regrets" in an oral conversation between the vice minister of foreign affairs and American Ambassador Joseph C. Grew at Tokyo, Sunday night.

Promise Investigation

The Tokyo government promised a thorough investigation and appropriate punishment for the guilty parties.

A cable from Allison to the department dated today said he had been informed that the command-

COTTON CROP SLASH FAGED BY GROWERS

BAKERSFIELD, Cal., Jan. 31.—(UP)—California cotton growers face a 50 per cent slash in 1938 cotton acreage if proposed federal agricultural legislation is passed, Harold Pomeroy, secretary of the Associated Cotton Growers of California, announced today.

Pomeroy revealed the 1937 cotton planting of 614,000 acres will be reduced to 349,000 in 1938 under a proposed allotment plan now before a congressional interhouse conference.

An income of $39,000,000 was derived from last year's cotton crop, which ranked as the state's fourth most valuable agricultural product.

Pomeroy pointed out if any grower failed to keep within his allotment under the proposed act, he would lose the benefit payment of 3 cents a pound on his entire crop.

DAUGHTER IS BORN TO DUTCH PRINCESS

SOESTDYK, Netherlands, Jan. 31.—(UP)—Princess Juliana, heir to the throne of the House of Orange, gave birth to a girl today, her first child.

The baby, provided there is no future male child, was destined to carry into the third generation the line of queens of this sturdy nation of 5,500,000 people.

With the pretty, pink cheeked princess in the semi-circular white palace here were her mother, Queen Wilhelmina, whose heir she is, and her husband of a year, Prince Bernhard, himself a scion of the ancient German house of Lippe-Biesterfeld. Princess Juliana wanted a girl; Prince Bernhard a boy.

It was announced officially that the child was born at 9:30 a. m.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Jan. 31.—(UP)—Ploughing through the Pacific off Southern California coast, the most powerful peace-time navy in the history of the country, today undertook tactical maneuvers designed to test the defenses of its two most important bases.

300 MERCHANTS TO FORM LOAN AGENCY

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—(UP)—Creation of a federal agency empowered to grant loans to "small business" at low interest rates became an aim today of a large group of independent retail merchants from various sections of the country.

At a conference yesterday, attended by 366 delegates representing six national, seven state and 123 city retailers' organizations, it was suggested that "small business" be defined as "individual or corporate industrial or commercial enterprises employing capital up to $100,000."

The delegates created a steering committee of 100 to sponsor a national retailers' organization, and voted to send seven representatives to President Roosevelt's conference with small business men in Washington Wednesday.

Deadline Set On License Plates

Capt. H. C. Meehan, head of the Orange county division of the California highway patrol, today joined other state officials in warning California motorists that they must obtain 1938 license plates by Friday, or pay a heavy penalty.

Delinquent applicants will have to pay $6 for their 33 plates and pay a 50 per cent increase in their "in lieu" tax assessment after that date, Meehan said.

SUPER SALESMAN SELLS JAIL TO CELLMATE; CHIEF OBJECTS

Selling the Fullerton city jail in which he was incarcerated to a cellmate Saturday night, Ben Avery, 51, super-salesman, who sold $13 worth of Southern California poles to an Orange woman earlier in the day, today found his commercial career cut short as he began a 30-day jail sentence in the county jail.

Avery was arrested in Fullerton Saturday night when he was overheard trying to sell jobs in a cafe on South Spadra street. A man who had read a newspaper account of Avery's operations in Orange and who overheard his conversation with a prospective client, telephoned police.

In the same cell with Avery was a Mexican prisoner to whom Avery sold the jail, delivering a deed which he made out on the spot. Salesman Avery told the Mexican that he could pay him for the property on his release. The Mexican's cocky manner toward Chiefsign complaints against him.

Virtually all commercial planes were grounded.

The U. S. Weather bureau forecast rains from Central California to northern Washington tonight and Tuesday. Continued snows and rains were predicted for Oregon, Nevada, and Idaho, with heavy snow flurries in the Sierra Nevada, Cascades, Eastern Washington and at other high altitudes on the Pacific slope.

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz., Jan. 31.—(UP)—A small band of men, trudging through foot-deep snow down jagged, steep Wilson mountain, today returned the bodies of Gerard F. Vultee, airplane designer, and his wife from the skeleton wreckage of their airplane.

The bodies, burned and crushed beyond recognition, were carried on stretchers 2,500 feet down the mountainside to a truck, which carried them to Sedona, 20 miles south of here. They were brought to Flagstaff then and laid out in a mortuary to await the arrival of Don Smith, head of the Vultee Aircraft Corporation, Downey, Cal., of which Vultee was an official.

ADVISE CHANGE IN UNIVERSITY ORGANIZATION

BERKELEY, Cal., Jan. 31.—(UP)—An immediate and radical change in the organization and instruction in American universities in the end may prove the only thing that will save the democratic principle in the United States, according to Dr. Robert Gordon Sproul, president of the University of California.

So urgent does Dr. Sproul consider the situation, that he has drafted a project outlining the broad lines of a new university organization which he feels alone can meet the needs of the present changing social order.

"Our educational institutions today are pioneering in a strange and unfamiliar world, and the old charts are no longer altogether reliable guides," said Dr. Sproul. The present problem is the continual adjustment of our institutions to the needs of a new age. But even the changes that may be made now to meet the needs of our constantly changing national life are no assurance that additional needs will not have to be met later.

History Repeats Itself
"In every great transition period, the teachers of men have tried to face squarely the problems of what people needed to know and to do to live happily in the environment of their time and place."

Dr. Sproul declared frankly that the American universities, by clinging to their old-time organization and curricula, are not meeting the needs of the youth today who are facing a rapidly changing order of things.

Dr. Sproul insisted that the great fault of the American universities today is too much specialization and not enough general cultural background.

"Those engaged in the teaching profession," he said, "know that 90 per cent of the students who take specialized and vocational courses never engage in lines of work where that knowledge applies."

Many Students Not Fitted
"Those who are leaders in the junior college idea in the larger metropolitan areas have told me that 85 per cent of the students probably are not of college caliber and certainly should not go to a university. The problem there is to find something interesting and useful for the 85 per cent without tramping underfoot the 15 per cent who should be trained for higher education."

The project for a new basis of organization and teaching of American universities, which Dr. Sproul has launched provides for a general college with a minimum of specialization and vocational courses and abolition of "majors" and university work, except for those planning to follow certain professions.

In the liberal arts curricula, Sproul would not impose any elaborate system of examinations and grading, as the students are really seeking a broad cultural background and strict unit and credit accountability is of little concern to them or to society, he believes. The plan provides for two distinct colleges within a university, one for followers of a general educational plan and the other for the professions. The university, he argued, should not become a mere trade school where students are taught to make themselves rich, but an institution where they are trained to enjoy the richer things of life.

Stresses Four Needs
In the reorganized curriculum which Dr. Sproul would have the reorganized American university adopt, the four things which every student should be required to study for general cultural background that would enable him to meet the needs of the present changing age are:

An understanding of man's place in the world historically and contemporaneously—social science courses.

An understanding of the natural phenomena of the universe and of the methods by which man moves toward more complete control of nature—courses in natural and physical science.

An appreciation of the emotional satisfaction to be found in beauty, whether of painting, sculpture, music or literature—courses in the arts and humanities.

Knowledge of the tools that man needs in his thinking and acting, and some skill in their use—courses in mathematics and the languages.

Mother and Son Joined In Death

FRESNO, Cal., Jan. 31.—(UP)—Private funeral services were held here today for Dr. Walter Wieser, 51, member of the Fresno board of education, who died Saturday night at the University of California hospital in San Francisco. Last rites will be held here tomorrow for his mother, Mrs. Agnes Wieser, 78, who died of a stroke last night shortly after she was informed of her son's death. Both mother and son had lived in Fresno 20 years.

Dr. Wieser was elected to the board of education last April.

As usual the movements of the warcraft were veiled in closest secrecy. It is known, however, that the high command seeks to determine just how many warships can be safely anchored and operated from the San Pedro-Los Angeles bases.

CHARGE TOWNSEND FIGHTING OWN BILL

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—(UP)—Dr. Francis E. Townsend was accused today of "blocking the thing he most desires" by opposing amendments to the proposed general welfare act, successor in Congress to his $200 a month old age pension plan.

Rep. Charles N. Crosby, D., Pa., chairman of the house steering committee for the welfare bill, charged that Townsend "is not only being destructive but actually trying to block possible passage of a $60 to $75 a month pension bill" for persons over 60 to replace social security's old age insurance. Townsend refused recently to attend a meeting of 80 person advocates called by the steering committee for 40 he himself helped form and charged it overstepped its rights in calling the meeting.

ROOSEVELT, N. Y., Jan. 31.—(UP)—Mrs. John Hesse, who will be 80 on Wednesday, visited the Roosevelt square club last night. It was a surprise party and she was overwhelmed.

The men, Sal (Tar Baby) Terrano, 34, and Leon Hansen, 33, were to be arraigned later today before U. S. Commissioner Anna Warren on charges of transporting four cans of refined "Gentlemen's" opium, a total of 20 tael capacity, from San Francisco to Nevada.

GUILTY PLEA ENDS LONG COURT FIGHT

It was contended that Assemblyman Thomas Kuchel, nephew of the judge, had been active on Mills' behalf, outside of court.

Counsel for Mills and Miller fought the change of judges bitterly. But Justice Kuchel disqualified himself, and Justice Hayden was assigned to hear the second trial.

Meanwhile, between trials, Western Fruit Growers, which had been a defendant at the first trial, quietly went into court and pleaded guilty.

Fight Continued
Mills and Miller continued to fight. Their attorneys, S. B. Kaufman and William P. Webb went to superior court for a writ of prohibition, to prevent Justice Hayden from proceeding with the second trial. But Judge G. K. Scovel denied the writ.

The second trial was scheduled today in Anaheim. Justice Hayden was on the bench. Deputy District Attorney Harold McCabe and Mrs. Alberta Belford, of the attorney general's office, were there, ready to prosecute.

Then Mills and Miller pleaded guilty. They were scheduled to receive sentence late today.

ADMIRAL SAYS U. S. NAVY 'INADEQUATE'

Recounting a world naval development he said Japan, besides refusing to be bound by the treaty limits, declines to exchange naval information and that Italy also is withholding data.

Doctrine Only Protection
"At our own doors," said Leahy, "nothing standing in the way of the seizure of the Central American republics except the Monroe doctrine."

He added that the Monroe Doctrine, to be effective, had to be backed by a strong navy.

Leahy was questioned by Vinson on the aggressive intentions of the navy. The chairman recalled that it had been charged on the house floor that the new large navy was planned to permit America to "police the world."

"Would the proposed increase permit a policy of policing the world?" Vinson asked.

Leahy replied that while he was uncertain what was meant by the phrase "policing the world," in his opinion the increases were not sufficient to carry on aggression against any foreign naval power.

Defines Line of Defense
"If these increases were authorized," asked Rep. Melvin J. Maas, R., Minn., "would we be able to wage an aggressive war against a foreign power?"

"We would not," Leahy replied. Leahy defined America's line of defense in the Pacific as extending from the Aleutian Islands to Hawaii to Samoa to the Panama Canal. In the Atlantic, he said, the line runs from the canal to the Virgin Islands to Maine.

He said, however, that the navy had no way of telling what the "line of defense" would be in war time. He described the "line" he outlined as being one the navy would watch in event someone crossed it. But in war, he added, "the navy would operate wherever the navy would operate wherever."

CALIFORNIA COAST IN PATH OF STORM

Snow in the higher mountains back of San Diego was forecast today as the weather bureau pre-coastal regions.

Fears of a damaging frost was allayed when the weather bureau said the storm would be accompanied by rising temperatures in the citrus belt.

Temperatures far below freezing were reported in the mountains of the back-country today. At Julian a low of 14 degrees was recorded and the Descanso ranger station said more than three inches of snow blanketed the high Laguna mountains.

SEVERE STORM SWEEPS EASTERN SEABOARD

A sub-zero cold wave, the most severe of the winter, overspread the territory from the Rockies to the Ohio Valley today and, whipped by high winds from the Canadian plains, moved swiftly toward the Atlantic seaboard.

Temperatures tumbled as much as 40 degrees in five hours in Illinois.

The bitter cold meant additional hardships for lowland dwellers along the Rock river in northwestern Illinois where floods, swelled by ice jams, isolated homes and covered farmlands.

Families Flee Flood

One hundred families fled from their homes south of Rock Island, Ill. Scores evacuated in other communities along the stream. An ice gorge was forming where the river joins the Mississippi to cause additional concern to rescue workers.

At Dixon, Ill., a 90-foot power dam gave way under the pressure of the ice and overflow. Bargers and small boats were destroyed.

Another ice blockade threatened to send flood waters over Smith Island, home of 35 families.

Five Die in Fire

Disastrous fires occurred in three Nebraska towns as near-blizzard conditions prevailed Sunday. Heavy property damage was caused by the fires at Wallace, Humboldt and Ogallala.

Storm warnings were posted from Sandy Hook, N. J., to Eastport, Me., as the U. S. Weather bureau at Washington reported a disturbance of "marked intensity" moving northeastward from the Great Lakes region.

PLANE'S STRUCTURE BLAMED FOR CRASH

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—(UP)—The air commerce bureau's investigating board reported today that structural failure was the probable cause of the Northwest Airlines plane crash near Bozeman, Mont., Jan. 10, which resulted in the death of 10 persons.

"It is the opinion of the investigating board that the probable cause of this accident was structural failure of the upper vertical fins and rudders due to flutter which resulted in a loss of control of the aircraft," the board's report said.

The board explained that "flutter" refers to vibration of increasing severity which sometimes occurs in the wings and control surfaces of planes while in flight. Vibration normally is of small intensity and has no immediate damaging effect on the aircraft structure.

CONVICT TESTIFIES IN MAIL FRAUD CASE

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—(UP)—Culcita William Friswold, convicted member of the "Reno ring" of confidence men, testified at the third mail fraud trial of William J. Graham and James C. McKay today that the lanky Graham received a share of the loot in a swindle executed by the ring.

Friswold, who pleaded guilty to mail fraud and received a five year suspended sentence in 1935, testified that $45,000 taken from Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Staley, of Cleveland, O., in 1931, was divided in Graham's presence and that the gambler took a "cut."

The government contends Graham and McKay, partners in the operation of gambling clubs at Reno, Nev., received 15 per cent of the ring's profits. These profits totaled as much as $2,500,000 taken from 70 victims in the space of three years, according to the prosecution.

"Starvation" Diet Rapped by Expert

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 31.—(UP)—Hollywood stars were warned today they are aging themselves prematurely by dieting for slenderness.

Dr. Erno Laszlo, noted Hungarian beauty authority, in Hollywood on a visit, said through an interpreter: "If the stomach is empty, the eye and expression are vacant. Hunger always ages, starvation is always horrible. If your stars continue trying to starve their way to beauty, they will soon be neither beautiful nor young."

He urged slenderizing "medically."

Silent Partner

The role that boyish-looking James Atwood Gray, 19, above, of Providence, Ky., played in the abduction of Charles Ross, 72, Chicago, ended with death in a northern Wisconsin hideout. Gray's body was found buried with that of Ross after Peter Anders, confessed abductor, told federal agents he killed both his captive and his partner once the $50,000 ransom was collected.

Three minutes later the trawler was driven against shoreline rocks and smashed.

LUMBER SCHOONER FIGHTS HEAVY SEAS

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 31.—(UP)—The lumber schooner Nabesna, of the McCormick steamship lines, effected temporary repairs to its engines today and began a fight to continue unaided its trip from Portland to San Francisco, MacKay radio reported.

Earlier the Nabesna, drifting before heavy winds and high seas, sent out distress calls that started a dozen ships to its aid. The craft, carrying a crew of 20, asked for aid, shortly after 2 a. m. When its engines failed as it was 12 miles southwest of Cape Blanco, off the Oregon coast and near the Oregon-California boundary.

Among the ships that changed course to attempt to aid the Nabesna were the Union Oil Tanker Warwick, the coast guard cutter Shawnee and the Italian steamer Leme.

coroner's jury from among searchers and conducted a quick investigation of the crash.

The jury reported the couple "met death as a result of an airplane crash."

It was reported here a U. S. Bureau of Air Commerce inspector came here early this morning and, without reporting to the sheriff's office, went to the crash scene, eight miles north of Sedona, in an effort to determine the cause of the accident. His name was not learned.

Miller, whose five jurors conducted their investigation by the light of a campfire in the cold early morning darkness, reported he believed a watch, found near the burned and twisted wreckage, would be the only means of positive identification of the bodies.

The plane, he said, was melted almost to a crumpled heap by the flames as it smashed against the mountainside Saturday morning.

Spats and Divorces!

At Reno so many women are getting divorces because they have been in misery for years! Many women, too, have found new independence and happiness after taking an old physician's prescription called "Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription," which stimulates the appetite and this in turn increases the intake of food, helping to build up the body. Then, too, there is the dreaded "change of life" period, called by physicians "menopause." Women of any age who suffer from periodic pains, headache, pins in back, associated with functional disturbances, would do well to try that vegetable tonic, made without alcohol, and favorably known for seventy years as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

TOURING GOLF PROS INVADE SACRAMENTO

OAKLAND.—(UP)—The winter golf trail led the nation's touring professionals to Sacramento today and the $1200 check for first place in the Oakland Open was in the wallet of Harry Cooper, the Chicago, Mass. master.

Cooper unleashed a great stretch finish to take the Oakland title yesterday with a 72-hole total of 275, five under par for the Sequoyah club course.

On the last hole of the tournament, Cooper needed a par to finish second, a birdie to tie for first, an eagle to win.

He got the eagle. He drove down the middle on the 453-yard 18th hole and using a spoon, placed his second shot within nine feet of the pin.

Cooper stepped up to the ball, remarked "here goes the money" and dropped the putt.

MADDEN PLEADS GUILTY. FACES COURT FRIDAY

John J. Madden, 25, the Camden, N. J., salesman once accused of slugging Detective Sergeant Hunter Leach, of Santa Ana, who was bringing him from Arizona to face prosecution here, today pleaded guilty to a check charge in Superior Judge George K. Scovel's court.

Madden admitted the original charge against him, issuing a bad check for $32.08 to Wayne Hofer, last November 22. The threat of an additional charge of assaulting the officer is said to have been removed, investigation failing to produce proof of the asserted slugging.

Hearing Is Set

Leach, having suffered a mysterious blow on the head while aboard the train with his prisoner last December 5, was unconscious when he reached Santa Ana, and Madden was caring for him. When the officer recovered consciousness, he accused the prisoner of having slugged him. Madden immediately lost the favor he had gained by his care of the officer.

Investigations from several sources followed, with the result that the authorities announced lack of evidence to support the charge. Leach, further recovering, recently was quoted as expressing doubt regarding how he was injured.

Madden, who appeared in court today with his attorney, George Tobias, applied for probation after pleading guilty to the grand theft charge. His hearing was set for February 4 at 9:30 a. m.

Colorado Man, 21, Used Rails For Joy Ride, Nabbed

When Ernest Brashess, 21, Colorado resident, mistook the Santa Fe railroad tracks in Orange for a California highway, and drove his car down the right of way over the ties yesterday afternoon he was arrested on a charge of drunk driving as he emerged from the unusual motorway onto Sycamore street at North Glassell street in Orange.

Brashess gave his address as All States Auto Camp, Fullerton. He stated he had been in California four days and in Orange county two days, when he appeared before City Judge F. E. Hallman this morning. He was given a jail sentence of 76 days and his driver's license was revoked for a period of six months.

NATIONAL LEAGUERS WIN PRO GRID TILT

LOS ANGELES—(UP)—The National league professional football stars defeated American leaguers 17-12 in an off-season all-star game before 5000 fans at Wrigley field yesterday. Twenty-five per cent of the gate went to the president's infantile paralysis fund.

The Nationals' touchdowns were results of passes from Ed Goddard to Jack Johnson. One pass good for 23 yards brought the ball to the three-yard line, where it was smashed across by Johnny Drake. The other was for 30 yards for a score. Hal Fangle converted both and kicked a field goal from the 36.

HELD IN THEFT

Leslie Hudson, 24, Santa Ana, today pleaded guilty to a charge of petty theft filed against him in connection with the taking of $6.50 worth of tools from a South Main street place, and was ordered by Judge Kenneth Morrison to appear in justice court tomorrow at 9 a. m. for passing of judgment. Bail was fixed at $500.

FULLERTON MAN PLAYS OFFICER AND 'GAME' LEADS TO JAIL

Because Claude Barnes, 26, Fullerton, liked to "play police officer," he landed in county jail last night on two charges, officials reported. One of the charges was intoxication.

Assertedly riding with Alvin Hobbs, 28, Yorba Linda, on Wilson road near Costa Mesa, last night, when the Hobbs car and one driven by A. W. DeWitt, 27, Los Angeles, collided, Barnes alighted, informed DeWitt and others he was a California highway patrol officer on his day off and would take charge. None was injured.

"Just My Day Off"

Just before Barnes began to direct traffic, witnesses declared, someone suggested calling a California highway patrol officer. "There's no need of that," Barnes was quoted as stating, "I'm

He urged the New Deal cooperate by "lifting the fog" of uncertainty which he believes paralyzes business.

EIGHT PERSONS SLIGHTLY HURT IN ACCIDENTS

Orange county was comparatively free from accidents during the weekend, police reported, as eight persons were reported to be suffering from minor injuries received in traffic mishaps, and one other was at St. Joseph hospital with more serious injuries.

Mrs. Nicholas Romero, 59, Anaheim, was the most seriously hurt, Saturday night on Santa Ana boulevard a half mile from North Main street, when a car driven by Ralph Romero, Anaheim, and Fred Fluor, 40, 2507 North Main, collided. Romero's hand was cut; others injured, police said, included Anna Fluor; Mary Romero, Beatrice Romero and Anita Garcia.

Pedestrian Hit

At Washington and Main, last night, a pedestrian, unidentified, was knocked down by a car and removed by the car owner to a doctor's office. Yesterday, Frank Valdez, Santa Ana, was taken to Santa Ana Valley hospital for treatment after a motorcycle operated by John Deloge, 710 West Fifth, and a car operated by Carl Schultz, 320 South Broadway, collided at Lincoln and Washington.

To avoid a collision, Deloge turned the motorcycle on its side and "rode" it skidding over the street for 33 feet before it struck the car, police said. A car driven by Herbert Jackson, 29, Santa Ana, Saturday night at Seventeenth street and Harbor boulevard near the Pacific Electric tracks, overturned when it collided with a car driven by A. E. Dixon, 65, Newport Beach, but none was injured. On Lincoln avenue, near Cypress, early yesterday, an unknown motorist in a car which carried no registration, struck a light pole, then was taken from the scene by an unknown passerby, police said.

MOTHER OF S. A. MAN IS KILLED

En route to her home in Indio this morning, after a weekend visit at the home of her son, H. E. MacKenzie, liquor control officer here for the state board of equalization, Mrs. MacKenzie, sr., was fatally injured when her car was involved in a traffic accident. The accident occurred near Edom and but 10 miles this side of Indio, where MacKenzie's mother had lived for many years. She was city clerk of Indio.

Contacted by residents of the Edom district, Riverside county, by telephone, the liquor control officer, with his wife, left immediately for the scene without obtaining details of the accident. The city clerk was driving to her home alone when the accident occurred, local friends said.

L. A. OFFICER RUNS AMUCK IN COAST CAFE

Forging Spokes of TVA's Power Program

Gigantic, towering far above the heads of the workmen welding its huge spider legs of steel, this 45-ton rotor section being built in a Pittsburgh factory to generate power from the waters of the Tennessee river, is a heroic symbol of the whole far-reaching character of the New Deal's power program. As engineers forged parts of the great waterwheel generator, negotiations were opened for the government purchase of electrical utilities in the Tennessee valley with which its "yardstick" program competes. Gov. Gordon Browning of Tennessee went to confer with President Roosevelt and to discuss co-operation between the state and federal government in the heart of the TVA area. Also on the conference list were the three TVA directors: Dr. Arthur E. Morgan, Harcourt Morgan and David E. Lilienthal and Frank R. McNinch, chairman of the Federal Power Commission.

MYSTERY OF SANTA ANA WIND STUDIED BY TRAFFIC EXPERT

What is it? This was the irksome question today in the minds of fellow officers of Sergeant Floyd G. Yoder, of the Orange county California highway patrol, who has figures to show that just before and during a "Santa Ana wind," traffic accidents show a marked increase in number.

"While I have not yet been able to establish any particular physical or meteorological reason for this condition," Yoder said, "I do know it to be a fact."

The revelation was made in connection with a request this morning from the Los Angeles county patrol that Yoder take immediate charge of an investigation of traffic accidents and fatalities, in an effort to reduce the number of accidents and fatalities in that county.

Yoder recently completed a statistical breakdown of causes of Orange county accidents, which was brought to the attention of the state department and may be required for every county in the state.

State Chief Raymond E. Cato is quoted as saying Yoder's report was "one of the finest I have ever seen."

POLICEMAN IS DISARMED BY FEDERAL MEN

Brandishing a revolver and ordering diners at the Palisades cafe, San Clemente, to get out, a Los Angeles police officer, Howard W. Mozena, 41, ran amuck yesterday afternoon while in a quarrel with W. W. Bowers, of Doheny Park, sheriff's officers reported.

Federal Patrol inspectors Frank Fortune and George G. Edwards appeared on the scene and disarmed Mozena, who had not fired the revolver. Bowers was struck in the face repeatedly by Mozena, some of the dozen persons in the eating place who fled from the place, reported.

Returns With Weapon
Deputy Sheriff Fred Humiston and James Musick, who investigated and booked Mozena at county jail here on a charge of assault with deadly weapon, reported that cafe employees came to Bowers' aid shortly after the altercation began as Bowers assertedly was being beaten by Mozena's fists. Then Mozena dashed from the cafe, went to his car and returned with the weapon.

With an oath, Mozena ordered everybody from the place, officers said. Bowers, in hiding, was sought by the angry officer, as the federal patrolman appeared.

After the federal men had handcuffed Mozena, and Bowers appeared again, Mozena struck Bowers in the face again, the officers reported. He will be arraigned today at San Juan Capistrano justice court before Judge John Landell, officials said.

GAS STATION STIRS ART ROW

CASPER, Wyo. (UP)—The filling station that rocked the art world continues to do business, and its owners, Mr. and Mrs. Harry H. Vroman, have dismissed the dispute that divided the patrons and progenitors of painting into two camps.

The "Mona Lisa" of service stations stands just one mile east of Casper and has been disputedly preserved for posterity on the canvas titled "Wyoming Landscape," painted by Aaron Bohrod.

The Vroman gasoline station became the point of artistic conjecture when "Wyoming Landscape" was awarded top honors and $500 at the Chicago art institute exhibition last November. The argument arose when Mrs. Frank G. Logan, donor of the prize, was unimpressed by Artist Bohrod's colorful, if desolate, "portrait" of the filling station.

"It isn't worth a nickel," retorted Mrs. Logan.

Unlike the critical art patron, Mrs. Vroman was pleased with the painting.

"It looks just like our service station," she said on examining a print of the painting. "There's the same swab of paint on the big tank."

Mrs. Vroman pointed out some changes that the painter had made. The artist had changed the style of roof on the office of the station, she said, and the Casper mountains, which really are some distance away, were replaced by black hills which rise abruptly in the rear of the station.

"We started our station on nothing," Mrs. Vroman said. "First we had a house and pump, then we added a tank. We kept adding until we had quite a set of buildings and improvements."

"In fact, two more tanks and another gasoline pump have been added since Mr. Bohrod 'did' our station. It's much prettier now."

DIONNE'S INCOME $17,000 A YEAR

CALENDER, Ont. (UP)—The famous Dionne quintuplets now have an income of $17,000 a year from their investments, plus a large revenue from royalties and testimonials, according to Judge J. A. Valin, one of their three guardians.

The babies' living expenses amount to $24,000 a year at present and will have to be increased, according to present plans.

Judge Valin estimates the quintuplets' fortune at $520,000, and believes it will reach $1,000,000 when they reach the age of 18.

CIO AND STEEL DUE TO START PARLEYS FEB. 7

PITTSBURGH—(UP)—The 20-month-old Steel Workers Organizing Committee expects to open negotiations Feb. 7 for renewal of union contracts with the U. S. Steel Corporation and 463 other steel and metal fabricating firms.

The agreements with the union were signed last March 2. They expire Feb. 28. U. S. Steel has not indicated what its stand will be in the bargaining negotiations. Philip Murray, chairman of the SWOC, expressed confidence that new contracts would be signed.

Although the SWOC strike last summer against "Little Steel" failed to gain contracts for the independent, Murray indicated that the union campaign for contracts would be continued among those concerned. At present the National Labor Relations Board is conducting hearings on SWOC charges that some "Little Steel" companies violated the Wagner Act by alleged anti-union activities.

Lewis Met Moses
Private conference held recently in New York between John L. Lewis, chairman of the Committee for Industrial Organization, and Thomas Moses, vice president of U. S. Steel, were believed to have been concerned with the impending negotiations for a new contract.

The first international steelworkers convention, held in Pittsburgh last December, gave blanket authority to SWOC officials to negotiate the "best agreements possible."

A cross section of what steelworkers want in the way of new contracts is condensed in a report of the SWOC convention's scale committee, which reported to the convention the various requests that union lodges made.

Some units want a $6 a day minimum pay for common labor and the 30-hour work week in place of the present $5 a day minimum pay and 40-hour work week.

But the scale committee, in its report, carefully pointed out that the present business depression has so plummeted steel operations, with a resultant decrease in employment, that wage and hour demands should be governed accordingly.

Economic Factors Considered
"The major outlets of steel are closed for at least the next six to eight months," the committee warned.

"We are concerned with the formulation and adoption of policies properly executed that will demonstrate to the world our understanding of both the problems of the industry and their relations to the workers in the industry as well as our responsibilities to our fellow workmen and the public at large."

The committee tacitly disavowed the closed shop and the check-off of union dues for the 1938 contracts.

Expected to figure in the negotiations are seniority rights of employees. As a result of various interpretations on that subject, the clause concerning seniority rights is expected to be one of the major topics in the discussions.

HUNDREDS HEAR DR. FOULKES IN PLEA AT CHURCH

Formal dedication ceremonies held at the First Presbyterian church yesterday afternoon attracted a capacity crowd for the closing observance of "Dedication Week" activities at the new $75,000 sanctuary.

The dedication sermon was delivered by Dr. William Hiram Foulkes, of Newark, N. J., moderator of the Presbyterian general assembly. Dr. Foulkes took as the subject of his sermon "A Glorious Church."

"A Marching Church"

"It is my hope," he said, "that this, the newest sanctuary in the denomination, shall become a marching church whose inspired members shall go out and carry the gospel to the community. Upon such a foundation and for such a purpose was this glorious church constructed."

Music for the dedication exercises was presented by the Cathedral choir of the church under the leadership of Whitford L. Hall.

Smith Is Chairman

The Sunday afternoon service closed the numerous "Dedication Week" activities held during the past week. Arrangements for the various programs were completed under the general chairmanship of George S. Smith and the following committees representing the local congregation:

Modern Poets

BEULAH MAY

THE DESK DRAWER ANTHOLOGY compiled by Alice Roosevelt Longworth and Theodore Roosevelt. Doubleday Doran. It is almost too bad that this is such a pretty book for it is going to get a lot of wear, to be taken on hunting trips and dropped with the duffle in old sloops, to be read by children perched in mossy apple trees and their elders eating popcorn around the fire. It is as companionable as a setter pup, do not know whether Colonel Roosevelt's residence at Oyster Bay has anything to do with it but there are surprisingly many poems about clams. But I, for one, like clams.

BOUND ON THE CHURCH PORCH

(For Theodore Roosevelt Jr., who gave me the theme.) The farmer knew each time a friend went past. I thought he was deep in Sunday, and his eyes Were on the preacher or the azure squares The high church sashes cut out of the skies And on the dark blue serge upon his thighs.

Every time a man the farmer knew Went by upon the road, the farmer's bound On the church's wooden porch outside Would thump his tail and make a pleasant sound, His tail struck every time that it went round.

The farmer knew how well he knew each friend Going by, he counted up the score; If the passer-by were a plain friend, There would be three thumps, or maybe four, But if it was a good friend, it was more.

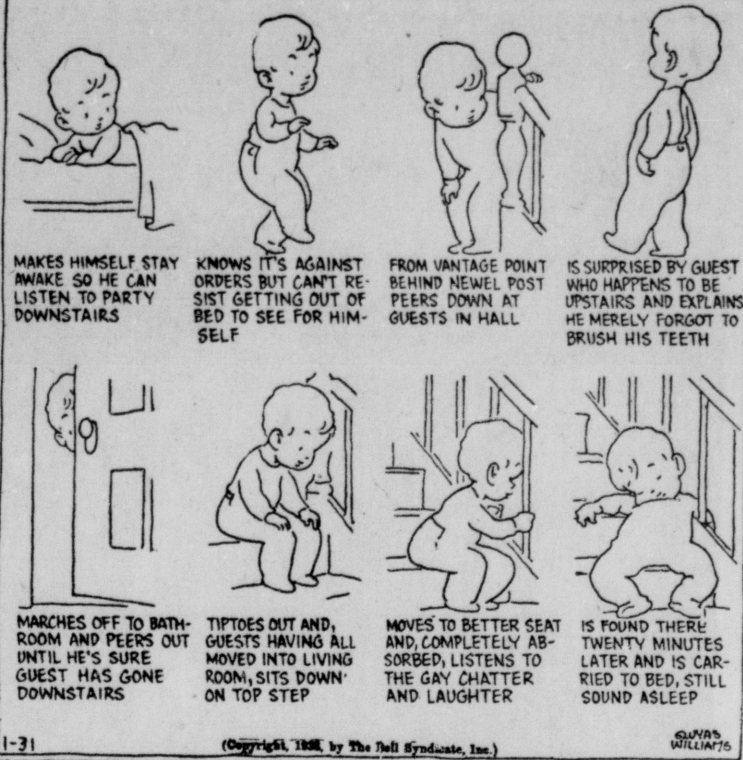

That would be Sam Rogers passing now, And that would be Dave Merryman, all right, For the bound-dog's joy flowed down his tail And made it pound the plank with all its might, He could not stop it going for delight.

The man in church sat back and gazed all through, He heard the sermon, but it did not hide The rhythm of the comforting old hymn Of friendship that was going on outside, And every inch of him filled out with pride.

Have you one of our Calory Lists? If so, clip and paste these items on bottom of the list.

Coca-Cola, 1 cup—100 calories.

Canned fruit juices, 2-3 cup—100 calories.

Bottled grape juice, 2-3 cup—100 calories.

Plain malted milk, 1-3 cup—100 calories.

Soda, 1-4 cup—100 calories.

Coffee, tea, or postum, containing 2 teaspoons sugar, and 2 tablespoons "coffee" cream, 1 cup—100 calories.

Avocado, 1-4 of a small one—100 calories.

Olives, medium size, green, 6—100 calories.

Ripe, 7—100 calories.

Raw oysters, 1 cup, or 12 medium—100 calories.

Peanut butter, 1 tablespoonful—100 calories.

Potato chips, 10—100 calories.

Carrots, 2 cups sliced, cooked, without dressing of any kind—100 calories.

(Dressed with 1 tablespoon butter, scant, 1-2 cupful).

Whether you are reducing or not you ought to have one of our calory lists for the information therein, and the fun you can get out of airing calory facts in the bosom of your family. To get this fine list of ours, you are asked to contribute a good family recipe and a stamped, addressed envelope. Write to me for the list today.

I have a strong hunch that you may be settling down to do a lot of sewing this week or next, and you'll want ideas for one-dish meals that will cook while you sew. This is the first of the five to be given through the week.

Pork Chops with Apples and Potatoes

6 medium sized sweets, boiled

6 apples, peeled and sliced

2 thin pork chops for each person in family.

Juice of a lemon in 1-2 cup water

2 tablespoons sugar

Salt and pepper to taste.

Use a wide and shallow baking dish to give the chops room. Arrange apples and sliced sweets in layers, seasoned and wet down with water, lemon and sugar. Arrange chops over top and give the dish 30 minutes in a hot oven. Cut the heat to a bare 200 degrees and cook for 1-2 hours longer. The chops will look and taste better if they are turned once.

This is one of the few things you can do with "bargain" pork chops. Usually, they are cut so thin, a microscope is needed to find them if cooked in ordinary fashion.

No need to tell you that this dish is rich, and the sort that sticks to the ribs, as the boys say. Consequently a raw, space-filling salad is the one and only thing you should serve with the casserole.

A Green Bowl Salad

1 head lettuce, torn in pieces

1 sweet onion, quartered and sliced very thin

1 cup finely sliced celery

1 ripe tomato, peeled and diced

Dressing

1 clove of garlic, crushed

2 tablespoons olive oil

3 tablespoons wine vinegar

Coarse black pepper, 1 scant teaspoon

Salt and a dusting of sugar

Rub the salad bowl with garlic, then throw it away (garlic, not bowl). Arrange salad materials in bowl, drizzle the oil over and mix until each piece looks oily, then add vinegar, etc., stir lightly and serve. Don't call the family down if they "dunk" the dressing . . . it's being done.

Dessert? How about a creamy lemon sherbet, put into the ice box right after breakfast. Just freeze a rich lemonade to a mush, then whip a stiffly beaten egg white through it and it's back to freeze until dinner time.

Selection of Valencia Ballroom on 101 Highway for the tenth annual military ball of the Jack Fisher chapter, Disabled American Veterans of the World War to be held February 21, was announced today by Harry Pickard, general chairman in charge of the affair this year.

Pickard said the choice was prompted because of the central location of the hall, making it easily accessible from all parts of the county. Other factors entering into selection of the ballroom were the splendid acoustics and the fact that the ballroom offers the largest dancing floor of any hall in the county, Pickard said.

The dance will be staged under guidance of a committee of citizens representing every section of the county. Members of this committee will meet at 7:30 o'clock tonight at the home of Mrs. A. G. Flagg, 1320 North Broadway, to further plans for making the affair this year the most colorful in the history of the organization.

BISHOP LEAVES VALENCIA

In all the hubbub over "Tex" Oliver leaving Arizona for Oregon, and the possibility of Bill Cook taking over the place at Arizona, a switch in Orange county coaching assignments almost escaped unnoticed.

Clarence Bishop of Valencia (Placencia) high school is going to Santa Barbara as assistant coach to Clarence Schutte if he can get his release from the Valencia school board. This will be readily forthcoming, according to Principal Crossley, if Valencia can find a suitable replacement for coach Bishop. That is easier said than done, especially at this time of year, when few are free to move from school to school.

Bishop, a graduate of Pomona college, went to Placencia from Fullerton where he handled track. He has had charge of all sports at Valencia, doing remarkably well under the handicap of a small enrollment and limited material.

President Walter Wentz has called a meeting of National Night Ball league managers for Thursday night. It may be the last official act of the mild-mannered Garden Grove automobile man for at least one—and maybe two—clubs openly oppose his reelection, and the election of officers is the chief order of business.

They say Wentz lacks "color" and "punch" although it was only a couple of years ago that the managers split wide open on George Peterkin, who wavered, Horace Snow who was a coward, and the absence of the ailing Sam Wilcox, still on his back in the Veterans' hospital at Sawtelle.

Look for Bill Marce, San Juan Capistrano tackle who started for Loyola last season, to wear the rig of the Pittsburgh Pirates in professional football next season. Big Bill has tentatively agreed to two terms. The Register has two turf experts—Tom Gwynne and Neil Stanley. The latter won one of the Times' sweepstakes prizes the other day.

Remember Johnny Arrambide, who was assistant football coach at Fullerton jaycee two years ago? They say he's in line for the Whittier college job recently vacated by "Chief" Newman. Norman Burbridge, Orange high track captain who entered Fullerton jaycee last fall, is said to be on the verge of transferring to Santa Ana. He's a hard-run-in half-miler.

The wrestling people have been flooding the county with complimentary tickets—which have a "service charge" of 25 cents a head. That saves 15 cents, general admission being 40. Toby White of Santa Ana was ranked No. 4 in Citrus Belt area tennis ratings, just announced. Ahead of him were Vanderzyl of Riverside, McManis of Fullerton and Hippenstiel of San Bernardino. Santa Ana's Robert Blakemore was placed second in junior rankings and Marvin Jacobs seventh.

Almost forgot that the Mission franchise switch to Hollywood makes a Sheik of Laguna's Don Johnson, the promising infielder who is a son of Boston Scout Ernie Johnson. Ed Morris, Huntington Beach's second baseman, young sprinter, will have some help this season. A couple of new sprinters (one from Jefferson high school who can run the 220 close to even time) have transferred to Huntington Beach. Morris was timed in 10 flat and 21.8 as a frosh.

Portland's Beavers begin spring training in Fullerton late this month. New faces to be seen by Orange county baseball fans are Irving Jeffries, second baseman from Montreal; Pat Patterson, pitcher from Montreal; Joe Morrissey, infielder from St. Paul; Harry Rosenberg, outfielder from the Missions; Jim Darrow, pitcher from Birmingham; Catchers Elmer Krumpholtz and Frank Bandy from Brooklyn, Ed Wilson, an outfielder from Brooklyn, and Rex Cecil, pitcher from Vancouver.

SCHMELING TO HAVE ONE MORE TUNEUP FIGHT

By GEORGE KIDD (United Press Staff Correspondent) HAMBURG, Germany—Max Schmeling, No. 1 challenger for the world's heavyweight championship, started plans today for a third "tuneup" bout before he meets Joe Louis for the title next June.

Max, hopeful of becoming the first man ever to regain the heavy crown, scored a 12-round decision over big Ben Ford, South African and former British Empire titleholder, before a crowd of 26,000 here yesterday. Ford won only the first and third rounds.

Except for a small cut under his right eye, and a sprained right thumb, the former titleholder emerged from the bout undamaged.

Despite Max's failure to put Ford on the floor, critics agreed he looked like a first rate heavyweight. He was calm throughout, carefully measuring his opponent, and letting his pile-driver right go when the opportunity afforded.

Ford's youth and heat were credited with keeping him off the canvas.

Three times—in the sixth, 11th and 12th rounds—Schmeling had Ford in difficulty, but the South African fought back gamely, blood streaming from his mouth and from cuts over both eyes.

Manager Max Machon said Schmeling particularly wanted to fight Ford because of the similarity between his left jabbing and Joe Louis' tactics. Ford was stopped in nine rounds by Max Baer in his last start eight months ago.

His manager, Louis Walsh, received a cable offer from Promoter Mike Jacobs in New York offering Ford a bout with the winner of the Tony Galento-Harry Thomas bout in Madison Square Garden Feb. 18.

Walsh said he wanted to consider London offers before answering Jacobs.

DONS TO PLAY PHOENIX FIVE

With the Eastern conference basketball race fast developing into a two-team affair between Fullerton's defending champions and Chaffey, the rest of the conference threats—San Bernardino, Pomona, Riverside and Santa Ana—cherish only mathematical hopes today.

Coach Blanchard Beatty's Dons, who won their first game last Thursday at San Bernardino, have a "don't" this week, meeting the Pomona Red Raiders here next week.

The Dons entertain the Phoenix jaycee barnstormers in the Tustin high school gym Friday night. Coach Beatty is trying to line up a practice game for his eager-to-morrow night. The Phoenix team plays at San Bernardino Wednesday night.

Standings:

Horses Are Horses; They All Run Alike

By HENRY McLEMORE (United Press Staff Correspondent)

PHOENIX, Ariz.—Seated in box 23 at the Phoenix Jockey club yesterday, I suddenly came to the conclusion that I had just as lief see a horse that wouldn't bring $75 at the glue factory as I would Seabiscuit or War Admiral.

And no sooner was this conclusion out of the way than I arrived at another one: namely that not one of every 1000 persons at a race track would recognize a great horse unless its name was clearly printed on the program. I honestly believe that if ten of the greatest horses in the country were entered in a cheap event under names other than their own, only a scattering of trainers, jockeys, handicappers and the like would be able to spot them and know they were looking at an extraordinary race.

To the untrained eye all horses look alike. There is a tremendous difference in the ability of horses, as all horse players have learned the hard and expensive way. Just looking at them from the outside, horses are horses. War Admiral's ankles are no more neatly turned than those of a plug who couldn't do a mile in three minutes. Seabiscuit's withers and fetlocks are no glossier than those on a well kept milk horse. Some of the slowest horses ever to run last could out-pace and out-smart Time Supply in a parade to the post.

Take the Phoenix track. I came to it straight from Santa Anita, most elegant of all tracks and one which attracts the finest thoroughbreds in the United States. The Phoenix track is not rich, its purses are small, and the horses that run on it are ordinary to say the least. Someone was telling me yesterday that only one horse had been claimed during the meeting, and that one brought only $400. And that when the purchaser laid out his $400 the seller admitted that he had bought the horse a week earlier for $20. No one outside of Arizona ever heard of the Phoenix horses or the stables that own them. The jockeys, too, have obscure names.

Yet I enjoyed the Phoenix track just as much as I did Santa Anita. To me the races were just as exciting as any I ever saw, and that goes for the Derby, the Preakness, the Belmont, and all the other illustrious stakes. The times were slow, but I never would have known it if they hadn't been posted on the official board. To me—and to 99 out of 100 other race track followers, I believe—a horse running in a horse running, and time doesn't matter. You'll never convince me that your average race track better can tell whether a horse is running a mile in 1:36 or 1:42 or 1:55.

I saw War Admiral break a track and a world's record in the Belmont last summer, but I never would have suspected he had done anything marvelous if I hadn't been told. And I don't think anyone else in the press box would have either. He didn't look any faster to me than he did in the Preakness or the Derby.

Jockeys look about the same, too. There may be eyes who can spot the beautiful work of a Harry Richards or a Wayne Wright, but they don't belong to me. The Phoenix jockeys, just a bunch of good named Grumpy, Doc, and Sneezy, insofar as national repute is concerned, appeared no different than the celebrated boys who ride for the great stables.

I reckon I just haven't got a horse sense.

Alfred Vanderbilt, young Maryland sportsman, was a press box visitor the other noon and proved an entertaining visitor. He revealed that he purchased Galley Slave, his champion 2-year-old filly, for a modest sum. He thinks she would have run even faster than 32-4-5 had Sonny Workman carried a whip.

He has high hopes for the 2-year-old, Adventurer, full brother to Discovery, which is now at his Maryland farm. Adventurer is the biggest colt at the farm, weighing 1150 pounds, the exact racing weight of Discovery. Vanderbilt bought the colt at Saratoga for $20,000, but he had passed the word around that he would go sky high for the yearling, if necessary, and the other bidders dropped out.

Galley Slave will be his sole dependence in the Santa Barbara Stakes, as he has stepped on Im-pound, reserving him for late summer and fall engagements.

He is one of the guiding spirits of Pilimlico and has put considerable life into the old Maryland course. Next to winning the Preakness (run at Pilimlico) he would rather bag the Santa Anita Handicap.

Pompoon and Seabiscuit, first and second choice respectively for the Santa Anita Handicap, will clash for the first time this season in the San Carlos Handicap Feb. 13.

The victory of Sun Egret was a noteworthy achievement, and his second important victory at the meeting, as he had barged the Santa Maria Stakes against horses of his own age recently.

The racing strip, dampened by morning showers, was dead and the time of 1:23-2-5 was exceptionally creditable. The A. C. Compton entry paid $7.40 straight.

There was considerable jamming and crowding in the race and several contenders, including He Did, Whicheck and Boxthorn, were completely eliminated because of interference.

Old Time Supply made his debut in the encounter but finished in the rack, although he was going fairly well at the end.

Amor Brujo, the South American star, also made his debut and, obviously short, made a sorry showing in a supporting handicap, finishing last in a field of six. The race was won by Marynell, with Watersplash second and the improving French importation, Frexo, a boldly-closing third.

Hero of a dozen two mile battles, 11-year-old Malicious raced to his second straight marathon triumph in the nightcap. Trainer Lonnie Copenhaver has never lost a two-mile race with Malicious, winning 11 of them in the last several years. However, when Malicious is claimed and goes to a strange barn he can't get within rifle range of the winner's circle.

Copenhaver doesn't work his horse, except at rare intervals, training him at the end of a long rope, and thus keeping weight off Malicious' back.

HIGH SCHOOL'S TURNOUT SETS RECORD AT 107

This was mid-year enrollment day at Santa Ana junior college and it found Don track and field enthusiasts with a severe headache.

Blas Mercurio, captain of the Don track squad and champion high-jumper of the Eastern conference, announced he would not return to school.

An all-conference quarterback as well as a star in the jumping pit, Mercurio said he was going to transfer to Redlands University, a Southern California conference institution. Redlands wants the hard-running, accurate-throwing Mercurio for football primarily; he will take the place of Jimmy Peterson, the Bulldogs' star pass-hurling back of the past several seasons.

A record turnout of 107, the largest in recent years if not for all time, greeted Coach Reese (Pinky) Greene of Santa Ana high school's track squad today.

Coach Greene said he believed the enlarged list was due to renewed enthusiasm in Saint athletics, due to Santa Ana's switch to the Citrus Belt league, "where boys in a school our size have a chance to break even."

Heading the group was Wendell Tedrow, sensational Class B high-jumper of last year who set a Southern California record of 6 feet, 17-8 inches. Tedrow is also an excellent vaulteer.

Lettermen returning are Melvin Barron, hurdler; Byram Bates, miler; Laurence Dresser, vaulter; Jerome Duffy, sprinter; Howard Elliott, hurdles and relay; Bob Frías, high jump; Gene Hamaker, hurdler and vaulter; Bill Hemmen, high jumper and vaulter; Dalton Lutz, 440; Bob Newton, 88 or mile; Wayne Piper, sprinter; Bob Pollard, sprinter; Jim O'Connell, discus; Ray Herman, low hurdles, and Jack Clark, Class C low hurdle champion of Southern California last year.

The sophomore team got two fine prospects in Jack Halderman, a vaulter from Frances Willard junior high school, and Harold Montana, a distance runner from the same team.

The roster: James Adams, Bruce Adkinson, Victor Altman, Bob Allen, Jack Allen, Harry Ashen, Elbert Baker, Marion Baker, Ross Barnes, Melvin Barron, Bill Barry, Ed Bates, Ralph Beckman, Clifton Brooks, Bill Brown, Gordon Burlingame, Bill Capps, Herbert Carver, Jack Clark, Freeman Claus, John Cleary, Dale Coffey, Willie Cordova, Richard Coran, Leslie Crawford, Dan Cullen, Milton Danielson, Harold Dial, John Delaure, Lawrence Dresser, Jim Duffy, Jerome Duffy, Bob Edwards, Howard Elliott, Tom Engleman, Danny Frías, Robert Frías.

Nor are the Idle Hour Farm Stables' prospects much brighter for 1938. Colonel Bradley already has announced that he has no horse of Kentucky Derby caliber.

It is just another striking illustration that an owner and breeder of thoroughbreds cannot be successful forever, no matter how racing-wise and well fixed financially.

The present recession of the Bradley turf fortunes is only a natural one.

For years Idle Hour Farm depended upon the produce of Black Toney and North Star III. The latter is dead, and Black Toney has retired from stud duty at the ripe age of 27.

Blue Larkspur, Colonel Bradley's favorite and proclaimed his greatest horse, now is Idle Hour's premier stallion. His best son, thus far, was Skylarking, and he was the property of Milky Way Farms.

Bubbling Over gave his owner only one 2-year-old winner, Baby League, which bagged a $700 event. Two other Bradley stallions, Baladier and Burgoon King, haven't yet had an opportunity to prove themselves.

VICTIM OF OWN WAGER

A year ago the green with white hoops had three colts which were expected to give the wily kannel his finest season since Blue Larkspur was a 3-year-old in 1929.

Brooklyn was regarded by all as an outstanding candidate for the Kentucky Derby.

Colonel Bradley shouted Brooklyn's praises almost from the colt's birth. Play on the colt in the winter books gave evidence that he was to follow in the winning footsteps of Behave Yourself, Bubbling Over, Burgoon King, and Brokers Tip at Churchill Downs.

Billionsaire, a stake-winning 2-year-old of a half dozen races and $12,650, was a full brother to Brokers Tip. He was well liked. Biologist had been a stake-winning

Bill Terry Laughs As Scribes Lampoon Him

By GEORGE KIRKSEY

NEW YORK.—Fun, frolic and foolishness at the annual baseball writers' dinner last night!

Bill Terry good-humoredly watches, along with 1000 others in the Hotel Commodore ball room, while the writers give their interpretation of the Edgar Bergen-Charlie McCarthy skit.

Bergen, played by Tom Meany of the New York World-Telegram, says: "Charlie, are you going to enroll in Bill Terry's baseball school?"

Terry, played by Arthur Daley of the New York Times, happens along and says: "Why I wouldn't let him in my school. I have no use for ball players who sit on newspapermen's laps. Besides you don't want your way to first base with your wooden head."

McCarthy, with Arthur Mann, ghost writer of Terry's magazine article, "Terrible Terry," contributing the vocals, says: "Oh, I see Terry's still trying to win ball games with a rousing sacrifice."

Terry says: "All right, if you want to get in my school I'll ask you a few questions. Suppose the Giants and Yankees were playing in the seventh game of the world series and you were pitching, what would you do?"

McCarthy says: "Just a minute Terry, I'll answer that if you can tell me how the Giants could ever

The PAYOFF

By HARRY GRAYSON (Sports Editor, NEA Service)

MIAMI, Fla. — Complete collapse of the Idle Hour Farm Stables was one of the unexpected happenings of 1937.

It was made tragic by the sudden death in the middle of the Maryland fall season of Derby Dicky Thompson, so called because he saddled four Kentucky Derby winners for Col. Edward Riley Bradley.

Nor are the Idle Hour Farm Stables' prospects much brighter for 1938. Colonel Bradley already has announced that he has no horse of Kentucky Derby caliber.

It is just another striking illustration that an owner and breeder of thoroughbreds cannot be successful forever, no matter how racing-wise and well fixed financially.

The present recession of the Bradley turf fortunes is only a natural one.

For years Idle Hour Farm depended upon the produce of Black Toney and North Star III. The latter is dead, and Black Toney has retired from stud duty at the ripe age of 27.

Blue Larkspur, Colonel Bradley's favorite and proclaimed his greatest horse, now is Idle Hour's premier stallion. His best son, thus far, was Skylarking, and he was the property of Milky Way Farms.

Bubbling Over gave his owner only one 2-year-old winner, Baby League, which bagged a $700 event. Two other Bradley stallions, Baladier and Burgoon King, haven't yet had an opportunity to prove themselves.

Colonel Bradley's time on this sphere perhaps is growing short. He is approaching the four-score mark.

Like Connie Mack, he'd like to ride the crest again, but has had his full share of gold and glory.

That is the principal reason why no one can take a licking more philosophically than the Kentucky Kannel and baseball's Grand Old Man.

NEW RULE DID IT

DONS FAIL TO SCHEDULE S. C. FROSH GAME

EUGENE, Ore. (UP)—Anson Cornell, University of Oregon athletic manager, will confer today in San Francisco with Gerald ("Tex") Oliver, selected last week to succeed Prink Galloway as Oregon football coach.

Cornell, who left here yesterday, said he would discuss a proposed three-year contract with Oliver, present University of Arizona mentor.

Appreciative of the accomplishments of his Santa Ana junior college football teams, the board of education will make every effort to perpetuate Coach Bill Cook's connection with the Dons, The Register learned today.

Cook has been mentioned as a possible successor of "Tex" Oliver as football coach at the University of Arizona when Oliver goes to the University of Oregon.

George Wells, president of the school board, said he hoped Santa Ana would be able to keep Cook here.

"I know I am speaking for the entire board when I say we appreciate not only his ability as a coach but the manner he handles men and the good-will he has spread among Orange county high schools."

President Wells would not comment on salaries but other sources said efforts will be made to give Cook a sizeable increase.

Meanwhile Coach Cook issued a guarded statement about the prospect of his replacing Oliver at Arizona.

"Until Tex formally resigns, at Arizona I am not a candidate," he explained. "However, if and when he submits his resignation I probably shall file a formal application."

Cook revealed that there is no chance whatever for Santa Ana jaycee to arrange a game with the Southern California Frosh next fall because, he said, the Tro-babe schedule is full until late in the season when the Dons' Terence commitments would prevent such a contest.

Santa Monica today put in a bid for another game here but Cook said nothing would be done until other "irons in the fire" were decided. One of these, he admitted, was a possible trip to Tucson to play the University of Arizona freshmen. He has sent Director of Athletics MacKall a list of available dates.

DIXIE HOWELL UNDER KNIFE

BIRMINGHAM, Ala.—(UP)—Mildard (Dixie) Howell, former University of Alabama football star, underwent an emergency appendicitis operation at St. Vincent's hospital here today.

Physicians said his condition was not serious.

Howell was recently signed as head football coach by Arizona State Teachers' college at Tempe, Ariz. He and wife have been visiting the latter's parents here.

FULLERTON JAYSEE BEATS BRUIN FROSH

FULLERTON—Coming to life in the closing minutes of play, Arthur L. Nunn's Fullerton junior college Yellowjackets turned back U. C. L. A.'s freshmen, 39 to 30, at the Pan-Pacific auditorium Saturday night.

Up to that time, the peagreeners held their own with the junior college champions. Homer Joyner, Tom Keesey both of York, Pa., Andy Echle, Jim Stacy of Bowling Green, O., and Whittier's Earl Albin composed the victorious Hornet squad.

Friday night the U.C.L.A. yearlings and Chaffey junior college played a 29-29 tie in a preliminary game at Los Angeles.

SCHAEFER DEFENDS CUE CHAMPIONSHIP

NEW YORK.—(UP)—Jake Schaefer, of Chicago, held both the 18.2 and the 28.2 ballline billiard championships today.

Schaefer, who won the 18.2 title from Welker Cochrane of San Francisco two weeks ago, successfully defended his 28.2 world championship in a 3500-point match which ended last night.

SYMPHONY WILL BE PRESENTED HERE THURSDAY

The concert by the symphony orchestra of the WPA federal music project will begin promptly at 8:15 Thursday evening at the high school auditorium. Leon Eckles will conduct the 50-piece orchestra. The school box office will open at 7 o'clock the night of the performance.

The concert is another in the brilliant winter schedule and will stress the majestic Brahms Symphony No. 1 in C Minor in its initial performance by the orchestra in this county. Playing the entire four movements of the sublime work, a treat is in store for music lovers.

Program Feature
One of Santa Ana's "own" in the field of music will be featured on the program. He is Edward Burns who needs little introduction to Orange county audiences. Burns is recognized as one of the city's most accomplished musicians and has made a number of triumphant public appearances as a cellist. He is to play the beautiful cello arrangement of the ancient Jewish chant, "Kol Nidrei." The swirling Spanish dance themes which Chabrier embodied in his rhythmic "España Rhapsody" will provide enjoyment for those who like music in the lighter forms. In fact, the entire program has been selected with an eye to giving the public a concert that is characterized by compositions of pure melody that appeal to the mind and heart. Passages of the stately Brahms "First" are fraught with the same simple melodic qualities that enriched his songs.

The Der Freischütz Overture (Weber) with its celebrated horn quartet will bring the performance to a close.

HISTORIC PIRATE FILM TO SCREEN

"The Buccaneer" with Frederic March, and "Missing Witnesses," John Littel, Dick Purcell and Jean Dale heading the cast, double bill at the West Coast beginning Thursday.

A crucial bit little-known chapter of American history is brought to life by Cecil B. DeMille in "The Buccaneer," story of a famous pirate king who was so notorious the government put a price on his head and then made him an honored hero when he came to the rescue of America in keeping the British away from the gates of New Orleans in the nick of time.

The pirate role is taken by March, cast as Jean Lafitte, now honored through efforts of the late Huey Long who set aside a day to celebrate Lafitte's birthday.

How a big city was cleared of its racketeers by honest investigators and prosecutors is the theme of the melodrama, "Missing Witnesses," written by two police reporters who knew the inside of the underworld. Don Ryan and Kenneth Gamet.

Nature's Role Helps Arrest White Plague

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (UP)—Virtually every civilized adult in the world has tuberculosis, according to Dr. C. Keith Barnes, professor at the University of New Mexico.

"People in civilized countries have had enough contact with the disease that there is usually a tiny hard lump—tubercle—somewhere in their lungs," said Dr. Barnes. "However, this lump, called Ghon's tubercle, is no cause for alarm," the physician added. "In fact, it makes a quick, easy test for tuberculosis."

The tubercle is supposed to set up anti-bodies which make it possible for the physician to test the simple injection of an extract of dead germs of the disease under the skin of the patient," Dr. Barnes said.

If the patient has been exposed to the disease, the point of the injection will turn red in a few hours. If no redness appears after a second injection, then the patient tested is not tubercular, and no further tests are necessary.

The appearance of a red spot at the point of injection indicates only that the patient has been exposed to the disease, not that he has contracted it to a dangerous degree.

A caricature of Gordon MacKay, Negro singer who will appear on the 10-act stage program presented by Major Bowes at Walker's theater today only, appears above. The tenor voice of this porto Rican, "young lad from the tropics," will be remembered for a long time by those who hear him, critics say.

TOWNSEND TOPICS

BY MISS J. ETTA BRYANT

Henry Pitcher of Orange, called little, member of club No. 3, was at headquarters and asked for a speaker for their club Tuesday night at 7:30 o'clock. The Rev. Josiah Tucker of Placentia was booked.

The questionnaire giving the names and addresses of the newly-elected officers of Townsend club No. 1 at Orange, and it is noted that Jimmie Green has surrendered the presidency to H. W. Larson and Henry Pitcher has surrendered the secretaryship to Carl Jern.

Word from Dr. Charles E. Hill, of Los Angeles, who is in charge of the speakers of Southern California asks for the full name and address of one of the powerful speakers of the 19th Congressional District that he may be used on some of the big occasions and they desire to book him at the Biltmore theater in the near future. It is with pleasure we announce that the man they want is the Rev. Josiah Tucker, of Placentia.

Mrs. F. W. Morris, 515 South Broadway, announces that the Women's auxiliary will meet at 731 South Birch street their next meeting, which will be February 12. She has asked for a speaker through the speaker's bureau for the occasion.

The Orange county Women's auxiliary of the Townsend movement has secured the Costa Mesa Townsend Players to stage their entertainment and program for the benefit of the auxiliary at 509 West Fourth street at the Townsend hall next Saturday night. Tickets are now on sale at the headquarters.

Mrs. Mary Goble called at headquarters Saturday and placed an order for Joe Nation of Long Beach as the speaker for their Club No. 7 for Friday night, February 11, meeting to be held at the Roosevelt school, First and Orange, G. W. Lonsberry, 1222 Orange avenue, is president of the club.

Friday night Townsend club No. 2 of Costa Mesa staged a free oyster supper and free dance at the Townsend headquarters at 2204 Newport boulevard, with Charley Cowan, president of the club, in charge of the ceremonies. Music for the occasion was furnished by the Costa Mesa orchestra under the direction of Mrs. Lena Burdick.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. W. Smith of Garden Grove were visitors at the oyster supper and dance given by club No. 2 of Costa Mesa Friday night.

A card is out signed by Lottie Pickering, associate secretary of the Townsend Officers' Association of Orange county, announcing a meeting of the members at the Townsend hall at 509 West Fourth street, to be held Wednesday evening at 7:30. They meet once a month.

James Patrick Kelly of Bay City, Mich., called at local headquarters Saturday morning. Kelly's brother was the Townsend candidate who was defeated by a split in the ranks of the voters in the 10th congressional district in Michigan when Ray Woodruff was swept into office. "We are still for Dr. Townsend and the Townsend Plan," said Kelly this morning.

JAIL REDUCES NARCOTIC EVIL

CANON CITY, Colo. — (UP)—Treatment of narcotic addicts with inter-muscular injections of serum has been used at the Colorado state penitentiary for 21-2 years, it was revealed after the treatment had been hailed in some circles as a new and revolutionary discovery.

Treatment of this nature, had been followed at the prison hospital here since early in 1935. A dozen addicts have been cured through this treatment, according to the prison physician, who described the method as "simple."

The treatment involves raising an artificial blister on the abdomen of the patient by means of a heat plaster and removing from the blister with a hypodermic 10 c.c. of the serum. This serum is introduced into the muscles of the patient, usually through the arm.

Repeating this process four to five times at intervals of two days has proved a cure. The treatment takes from a week to ten days to complete.

The treatment is a decided departure from the old process of treating the patient by eliminating the use of drugs gradually or introducing substitutes. That method took many weeks or months, depending upon the degree of addiction.

The problem of curing drug addicts has become a minor one in the penitentiary with the use of the new treatment.

In the past, it was necessary for officials to maintain a constant vigilance against narcotic smuggling from the outside because the cure of the addicts was seldom complete. Incoming inmates, letters and gifts were carefully inspected.

Addicts feared the old cure and exerted every effort to obtain smuggled narcotics to avoid the nerve-shattering time cure. The majority of them are reported to be eager to take the new treatment. The new method necessitates co-operation of the patient in exercising care that the blister is not broken.

RICH HAUL OVERLOOKED

CLEVELAND (UP)—Police are convinced that Cleveland is a city of either honest or unobserving people. An automobile containing $1,500 worth of musical instruments was left over the week-end in a downtown alley, unguarded, unattended and unlocked—with the keys in the car.

Christian Science

"Love" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon on Sunday in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts. The Golden Text was from I John: "We have known and believed the love that God hath to us. God is love; and he that dwelleth in love dwelleth in God, and God in him."

that which was lost, and bring again that which was driven away, and will bind up that which was broken, and will strengthen that which was sick:....and they shall dwell safely in the wilderness, and sleep in the woods. And I will make them and the places round about my hill a blessing; and I will cause the shower to come down in his season; there shall be showers of blessing."

The Lesson-Sermon presented also this correlative passage from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Mortals believe in a finite personal God; while God is finite Love, which must be unlimited."

BACK DOOR USED TO BUY LIQUOR

STOUGHTON, Wis.—(UP)—City officials had to put a back door on their city-owned liquor store to make it a paying proposition. Although the store had a monopoly on Stoughton's liquor business and reduced prices below those of private dealers in nearby cities, its business was "in the red" for the first few months of operation.

Then Sam Telsberg, operator of the store, discovered that potential customers stayed away because they feared the neighbors might see them coming or going from the establishment.

Telsberg solved that problem by moving the store into a hotel building. A side door connected the store with the hotel lobby. Stoughton liquor consumers who had been passing up the store found they could walk into the hotel lobby and duck into the spirits dispensary before they were noticed.

"The store started showing a profit right away, and we are doing better all the time," Telsberg said.

"The folks here like their liquor, but they don't like to admit it to their neighbors. One fellow, who has been coming in every day for over a year, always stops to explain that he is buying the liquor for a friend—that he never touches it himself."

In an experiment, a slipper animalcule produced 3029 generations in five years. If all these had lived, it would have meant a mass of protoplasm 10,000 times the earth's bulk.

Jimmie

in Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 31. — Idol chatter: Seems incredible, but Arthur Treacher appears just as languid off-screen as on. William S. Hart is no longer a star, but point a camera in his direction and he automatically goes for a gun. Great excitement in Canoga Park when Ranchowner Mae West appears in slacks. Real names: Paul Muni was born Muni Weisenfreund. Fred Astaire always reminds me of a caricature of Stan Laurel—and vice versa.

Address any question about Hollywood's unmarried ingenues to Johnny Downs—he dates them all. Cited for the Croix de Merite: Wendy Barrie—defying all stellar precedent, she is always punctual in keeping her appointments. Publicity stories telling how Claudette Colbert must eat rich foods in order to keep from losing weight must be thorns in the flesh of most lady stars. Hope no one will accuse me of advertising a Paramount picture when I warn you that the costume Dorothy Lamour is wearing in her latest weighs exactly four ounces.

Sonia Henie is the only femme star in Hollywood who has a male stand-in. Kay Francis, considered the "best-dressed" star, is militant in her belief that filmville's shops are superior to those in Paris and New York. Clipped from today's publicity barrage: "the favorite card game of Jed Prouty is Mah Jong."

In the Paramount cafe today we were discussing Carole Lombard's rise as a comedienne and Harold Lloyd made the observation in the entire history of Hollywood, there have been only two great women comedy stars. Lombard, Colbert, Dunne and all of the others who are currently causing the world to laugh, he disqualified on the ground that they play in comedy drama, not in real comedies. The two who rate are Louise Fazenda and the late Marie Dressler. In view of the great number of male slapstick stars who have climbed to screen heights, his observation is startling. We finally agreed that the probable reason is the natural feminine wish to be "pretty." Perhaps some psychologist among the readers of this column can advance a better explanation.

A freckled little scamp who sells newspapers on a Hollywood street corner told me this story—and I am retelling it simply because so many columnists have referred to Jeanette MacDonald as a woman whose ambition has made her "cold." The other day Freckles was playing in the street near his home with a couple of boys and his dog. Around the corner raced a car, and the dog, struck a glancing blow, was flung the width of the street. "And then another car came along and Jeanette MacDonald was in it," he told me. "Gee, she was swell. She stopped and when I told her what had happened, she took my dog to the same hospital where she takes hers when they are sick. And she told me that a doctor there would make him well and it won't cost me anything." We columnists would have a tough time trying to convince that boy that Jeanette is "cold."

When Charles Farrell realized that his hey-day as a screen star was past, he invested a considerable amount of money in Palm Springs real estate. And today the young man whom Hollywood always regarded as an "irresponsible" is sitting on top of the world. Palm Springs, booming like a mushroom, considers him its most substantial citizen; his real estate enterprises there are paying him a new fortune; he is as full of plans for new subdivisions as a sardine can his full of fish. Watching him as he pedals his bike down the main drag in Palm Springs, I am sure of one thing—he is far happier than he was as a Hollywood star.

I have just seen a rough-cut version of "Bringing Up Baby"—and never have co-stars worked in better harmony than Katharine Hepburn and Cary Grant. They consort as happily as bread and butter. And here's the inside story: During the first day's shooting, it seems, Katie was ruling things with a high hand, determined to have her way in spite of everything and

DR. TOWNSEND IN THIRD PARTY PLEAORANGE COUNTY
GROUP ATTENDS
RALLY IN L. A.

Headed by J. H. Walsh, 19th District manager of the Townsend organization more than 50 Orange county Townsends yesterday heard Dr. Francis E. Townsend outline plans for a third party in the coming election.

The Orange county and other delegations made the Biltmore theater in Los Angeles resound to their cheers when the originator of the Townsend plan said that the third party would have candidates in the field for "every office from dog catcher to president," the local delegation reported.

Support identical
In announcing plans for the third party Dr. Townsend said he anticipated the loss of some of the members of the organization who will not agree with the third party plan. In spite of this anticipated loss, however, he declared the plan would be carried out. The Orange county delegation indicated its intention to support the third party.

Dr. Townsend said in his address that petitions for formation of a third party will be circulated just as soon as the petition requesting a constitutional amendment favoring the Townsend plan has been completed. March 1 was set as the tentative date for launching the Townsend party.

The weather man should live in Delhi.
That's the opinion of Matt Lujan, unofficial mayor of the community at the southern edge of Santa Ana. As usual, Lujan says, the Santa Ana street department leveled off the dirt streets of the community Friday, then the dirt turned to mud on Saturday with the rain.

Lujan says he's still hoping Delhi will be granted "independence" by the city council when street improvements are made. "I've a pair of rubber boots but not all of the residents of Delhi have," he said.

"ROPE TRICK" GOES TO SEA

To Speak Here

Intimate glimpses into the life of Abraham Lincoln will be portrayed in three addresses to be given in Santa Ana tomorrow by Dr. Louis A. Warren, of Fort Wayne, Ind., pictured above. Dr. Warren will speak to the high school students in the morning, Rotary club at noon, and the county teachers in the evening.

LINCOLN TALK SET FOR ROTARY

Dr. Louis A. Warren, Fort Wayne, Ind., will arrive in Santa Ana tomorrow and during his stay will deliver three addresses.
A recognized authority on the life of Abraham Lincoln, Dr. Warren will address the high school at 10 a. m., the Rotary Club at noon, and Orange county school teachers at 7:30 p. m. at the Willard Junior high school.

Backed by Research
For three years, Dr. Warren was editor of a newspaper at Hodgenville, Kentucky, where Abraham Lincoln was born, and he now is director of the Lincoln National Life Foundation in Fort Wayne. During his residence in Kentucky and Indiana he made extensive researches of Lincoln's parentage, childhood and youth.

Dr. Warren's present trip is prompted by unusual current interest in Lincoln due to the approaching 75th anniversary of the Gettysburg Address which is one of the three outstanding orations in the Anglo-Saxon tongue.

Public Invited
The general public is invited to hear his address at the Willard Junior High School in the evening.
The Lincoln speeches by Dr. Warren in Santa Ana and Fullerton have been arranged by Guy J. Gilbert, district agent for the Lincoln National Life Insurance company.

SANTA ANA WOMAN'S HUSBAND
TELLS OF RIGORS IN TSINAN

When Japanese troops marched into Tsinan, Shantung province, China, residents of the city again felt safe, according to J. B. Wolfe, of the Cheelo university school of medicine, in a letter to Mrs. Wolfe, who arrived in November at the family home, 514 East Chestnut street, Santa Ana.

Wolfe, in his letter dated Dec. 27, said that the feeling of relief among the Chinese people after the occupation and all Chinese merchants were required to fly Japanese flags over their stores.

Hope for Best
For two days the electrical power in the city was off because of damage to the power house. During that period the university used its own power plant. The school also distributed flour to the 800 refugees inside the Weitzel.

In a post card to his wife and dated Jan. 2, Wolfe said, "Tsinan has been very fortunate in the comparatively small amount of chaos, and we now hope for better days."

SANTA ANAN USES 'TANGERINE' AS EFFECTIVE PRACTICAL JOKE

Most of us, when we want to play practical jokes on our friends like the exploding cigar, the buzzer hand-shake, the lapel flower squitter, and other devices designed to annoy our fellow man, we have to buy them. But not J. H. Mitchell of 2330 North Flower street.

Mitchell goes to the back of his house, plucks a few "India limes" from his tree, and is ready to give his victim a startling surprise.

"Have a tangerine," is his friendly greeting, as he proffers a round, bright orange colored fruit. Mouth watering, the victim eagerly accepts the fruit, peels it, notizing that it peels like a tangerine, and pops a segment into his mouth. Suddenly he shows symptoms of strangulation, eyes pop, mouth opens, face flushes. When he has somewhat recovered from the shock, he asks: "What was it?"

It is a Rangpur lime, so far as it is known, the only one of its kind in the county, and looks, feels, grows and does everything a tangerine does except taste like one.

Farm Advisor Harold E. Wahlberg made the unofficial guess that it is a Rangpur lime but has promised to send it to the citrus experiment station for analysis.

ENGINE "BURNS" RAILS
COAHOMA, Tex., (UP)—Wes Warren miraculously escaped injury when his automobile was demolished by a Texas and Pacific passenger train at a grade crossing near here. The locomotive engineer applied the brakes and the rails were so burned by the friction that they had to be replaced.

In a modern piano, from 400 to 450 linear feet of wire of various diameters are used.

P. T. A. FOUNDERS' PROGRAMS ARRANGED

COUNTY GROUP
TALKS ON FHA

Nine delegates from Orange county joined with the California State Builders' Exchange in protesting the extension of Federal Housing Administration financing to mass construction undertakings, at a meeting held in Bakersfield Saturday.

Representatives from the Orange County Builders' Exchange at the state convocation were: Donald Beach Kirby, president; Goodrich W. Bassett, secretary; William J. Tway, treasurer; and Theron Means, Allison Honer, Charles Cotts, C. M. Gilbert, George Thomas and A. H. Stovall.

Hurt Small Builders
At their mid-year convention, members of the exchange endorsed the P. H. S. as an aid to construction but condemned mass financing on the ground that it would hurt small builders.

Santa Monica was chosen as the site for the 1938 exchange convention, to be held in September. The delegates voted to inquire whether a reduction in the state compensation insurance rate is justified.

The convention was held in conjunction with the quarterly meeting of the California contractors license board.

FARM GROUPS MEET
TO FACE PROBLEMS

Four committee meetings will be the chief activity of the Orange County Farm Bureau today according to C. J. Marks, executive secretary.

L. P. Halderman, Anaheim, president, will meet with other officers of the bureau and Mrs. A. F. Schroeder, Santa Ana, chairman of the home department, to discuss group medical care for members of the bureau.

A meeting for review of the tax situation and possible recommendations to the legislative bodies of the county and state will be directed by Frank Latham, of Santa Ana.

R. J. McFadden, of Placentia, will head a committee meeting for discussion of legislative problems of the bureau, and H. H. Gardner, Orange, will be in charge of the meeting of the avocado department that convenes tonight.

Harley-Davidson 'Cycle' Is Winner
When faster motorcycles are made, they probably will be Harley-Davidsons, according to Bruce J. Rathbun, Santa Ana Harley-Davidson dealer.

In a telegram received today Rathbun was notified that the 200-mile national championship race held yesterday in Daytona, Fla., was won with a Harley-Davidson and that Harley-Davidson machines also placed third and fourth in the race.

Winner of the race was Bernard Campanale, who set an average of 74.90 miles per hour to beat the field of 100 motorcycle riders.

Cooking Class To Convene Tuesday

Wedding anniversaries will be the topic for discussion at 2 p. m. tomorrow when the weekly cooking class sponsored by the Southern Counties Gas company meets in the Y. W. C. A. hall.

Mrs. Rosamond Church, home economist in charge of the class, said today that in addition to demonstrating a menu for an anniversary dinner there will be suggestions for invitations, favors, place cards and entertainment of guests at the anniversary party.

CIVIC ORGANIZATIONS OF CITY
TO BE CALLED SOON TO MASS
MEETING TO ENCOURAGE SAFETY

Plans for a mass meeting of all civic organizations including the chamber of commerce, the service clubs, the Parent-Teacher associations, and other similar bodies to discuss traffic safety are under way today as the result of traffic safety meeting of state officials held during the last week end at Fresno.

Highlight of the meeting will be reports by Elmer Heidt, head of the traffic safety commission of Santa Ana, and Lieut. B. A. Hershey, head of the motorcycle patrol, who represented Santa Ana at the state meeting called by Ray Ingalls, chief of the state department of motor vehicles.

"School" Proposed
Included in plans for the general meeting will be discussion of the feasibility of starting an instruction school of juvenile traffic violators to be presented by Lieut. Hershey.

A similar plan has been in operation in San Jose, Hershey learned at the state meet, and has resulted in having only two per cent of the offenders as "repeaters."

Other tentative action in traffic control discussed at the meeting that will be presented at the local convocation, is the requirement of mandatory jail sentence for convicted drunk drivers, accident reports that will show the most dangerous highways and intersections, and appointment of standing committees on safety education and enforcement.

Gains Distinction
Delegates at the state meeting made favorable comment on Heidt's report of the activities of the Santa Ana traffic safety commission in which it was revealed that Santa Ana was the first city in the state to use phosphorescent paint for marking traffic lettering on the streets.

Action taken at the meeting in Fresno indicated that traffic safety education may be made a compulsory course in the state department of education.

COAST NETWORK TO RELEASE PROGRAM

Definite arrangements by which the popular Sunday evening radio broadcast of favorite old songs and sacred hymns by G. Willard Bassett, Santa Ana tenor, with Miss Ruth Armstrong, as accompanist, will be transferred to Los Angeles and broadcast over the Don Lee Mutual network to the entire Pacific coast, were announced here today by Bassett and officials of the local radio station which has been carrying the program the last four weeks.

The transfer to the Pacific network will be made in eight weeks, after the 13-week contract with Brown and Wagner, local sponsors of the program, is completed.

Bassett, who also will assume his new position as soloist in the Temple Baptist church of Los Angeles next Sunday, said today that the program of hymns will continue to be presented approximately the same as now, Miss Armstrong will continue to be accompanist.

Curtis and Carr
Trials To Open

William A. Curtis and Louise Carr, alias Powelson, charged with grand theft of $700 from Mrs. Florence Risk, Tustin widow, to whom they allegedly sold worthless Mexican oil licenses, were scheduled to come to trial today before a jury in Superior Judge H. G. Ames' court. Start of the trial awaited completion of another case.

Sought for some time on the charge, Curtis was located when he drew attention to himself by charging San Clemente police robbed him of $300 after arresting him on a traffic charge there. He later withdrew the accusation, admitting that he had been intoxicated.

CHINESE PLAN
NEW CAMPAIGN

SHANGHAI, Jan. 31.—(UP)—China, marking the start of a new year, assembled its fighting forces today for the most important military campaign in its history as a republic—the defense of China's "Magnet line" along the "Lung-hai" railroad in Central China.

As the Japanese organized 200,000 troops for a drive against the strategic east-west rail line in an attempt to sever north and south China from the east coast inland to Siam, China's leading generals brought up their forces for a defense.

As the Japanese advanced through Shantung, Kiangsi, Anwei and Honan Provinces and indirectly from Hopei into South Shansi, the Chinese converged several divisions from surrounding provinces.

Gen. Li Tsung-Jen guarded Hsuehchow, junction of the Lunghai and Tientsin-Nanking railroads and Pengou, to the south, with 50,000 troops. Shantung divisions drew up north of Hsuehchow under command of Chang Tse-Chiang. Shang Chen, commander of the 32nd route army, was ready at Kaifeng.

JURY EMpaneled IN
SUIT FOR $41,427

A jury was empaneled today in Superior Judge James L. Allen's court to hear the $41,427 damage suit brought by four plaintiffs against five defendants, as the result of a three-vehicle traffic crash on West Orange-thorpe avenue last August 23.

Mrs. Hazel Stowe, of Fullerton, asks $25,000 for her injuries; Cecil Stowe asks $5000; Thomas Stowe, 11, sued for $3500; another $3427 is being asked by the Stowes for special damages. Yvonne Baker, 10, of Yorba Linda, sued for $3500. The Stowe car, in which all the plaintiffs had been riding, was in collision last August with another car driven by Wallace Fee, a truck driven by Joe Miranda also being involved.

Wallace Fee, George and Alma Fee, Miranda and his employer, Eli F. Martin, were named defendants. The fees filed a cross-complaint against Miranda and Miranda, asking $161.32 for damage to their car.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE ADOPTS
FOUR-POINT BUSINESS PROGRAM

Holding their first session since election of a new board of directors, nearly 100 members of the chamber of commerce today met the new board and discussed policies and program for the ensuing year.

One of the major actions taken at the meeting, held in American Legion hall, was approving the four-point program of the "What Helps Business" committee, submitted by Rodney Bacon, chairman.

Stresses Local Business
The program, centers around calling public attention to the problems of the local business man rather than to business of the country as a whole.

Auto parking and downtown traffic control was discussed by E. M. Sundquist. Sentiment was divided between approval of the present method of citing motorists who park overtime, and urging installation of parking meters. The matter was returned to the committee for further study.

Directors Introduced
Possibility of opening direct routes to Huntington Beach and other county areas was discussed by Braden Finch, who said unless something is done to attract people to Santa Ana, the county shopping area will be developed by the Los Angeles and Long Beach trade centers.

President Fred Merker presided, and introduced Directors John Scripps, James B. Utt, John Henderson, W. F. Croddy, George Dunton, E. B. Sharpley, Frank Was, Richard Enison and Glenn Tidball.

Mrs. Ray Winters gave two piano solos during the program hour and Mary Kelton gave two readings.

Our Children

By ANGELO PATRI

CHILDREN'S FEELINGS

"Helen Marie, why don't you try to do something with your hair? It's too bad that it has to be that color, and as stiff as a rake but surely you could do something with it to make you look less like a Fiji. If you only knew how very unattractive you are you would try to do something about it."

Helen Marie is fifteen, self-conscious, fidgety, very shy. Her teachers know that she is intelligent, but they have great difficulty in getting her to express herself before other people. Reciting in class is an ordeal. She is moody and has no close friends as the other girls do. Her mother is troubled by all this and tries to get the child to be bright, attractive, friendly and popular; and to accomplish these ends she resorts to direct and sharp criticism.

How would you feel toward the person who told you to your face that you are a social failure and a mess generally? You would very likely choke with rage, and long to slay the truth-teller. The barbed arrow sticks in the flesh and you would writhe under the pain of it. And you would begin to think that maybe you were not as good, not as bright, not as attractive to other people as you had fancied. You would begin watching how other people treated you and find, sooner or later, something in their attitudes to wound your spirit.

Children are even more sensitive than grown up people. They suffer under direct and harsh criticism. Little things are important to them. Their manners, their appearance, their abilities are all sources of worry to them, and they suffer whenever they feel they have failed in any one of these very important phases of their lives. Children are not only people like ourselves, but they are more sensitive than we are. They are more easily wounded, more easily influenced by criticism. Personal remarks made to them, or about them in their hearing, are likely to do grave harm.

Children need criticism, but it must be helpful. In order to make it helpful it must be made indirectly so that it does not wound their sensibilities. Whenever you turn to a child and say, "You," be on guard lest you forget yourself and say to that child what you would not dare say to an adult, or say it in a manner that you would not think of using to an adult.

Bullying is never pretty. People who would scorn to bully a child do just that without realizing it, and when the child reacts to the method by retreating, they wonder what ails him. You cannot make a child friendly by telling him that he is so unattractive that people shun him. You cannot make him bright by making fun of his mistakes. You cannot make him feel efficient by telling him that he is a blundering fool.

Go about it the other way. The poorer his showing the closer you should get to him in a friendly spirit. Make a point of showing him that you like him; that you are willing to help him. Tell him and willing to help him. Tell him how much you appreciate him.

Mark his good points. Teach him to smile at his mistakes. Help him to succeed. But do not, if you value his success, make harsh, direct, personal criticisms.

DRIVE CAREFULLY -SAVE A LIFE-

QUALITY, NOT QUANTITY

Congress, in its 1938 meeting, has done little to distinguish the session. Indeed, it has been proceeding so slowly and laboriously toward solution of some of the pressing national problems that many citizens, engrossed in the task of working out their own problems during a slack period, have almost forgotten that a session is in progress.

There is one point, however, on which the 1938 Congress can hold its head a little higher—the number of new bills offered has shown a marked decline.

Only slightly more than 200 bills have been introduced since the session began in January, compared with more than 5000 which were thrown into the hopper in the first two weeks of the 1937 session.

It would be a wonderful thing if Congress should decide that the welfare of the country depends, not on the quantity of bills proposed, but upon their quality.

EAT MORE BEANS

Never in the history of the nation were so many beans grown as last year. Growers' reports reveal a billion and one-half pounds were harvested. As a result a national campaign has been launched to get rid of the crop.

Vernon C. Heil of Santa Ana, vice chairman of the California bean growers' committee, speaking of the nation-wide campaign says:

"The bean, sometimes overlooked in the general study of diet, offers, on an absolute basis, one of the finest foods. On the basis of food value and cost, it is outstandingly one of the best buys for the American dinner table. Its caloric content to the pound is 1565. This is exceeded by only a very few foods, and those that do exceed it are higher in price. It is rich in protein, fat and carbohydrates, and contains all of the essential minerals—calcium, phosphorus, iron, potassium and sodium. It contains vitamins A and G in normal quantities, and vitamin B in double ratio."

After reading Mr. Heil's remarks we have become better acquainted with the lowly bean. That old institution of baked beans and brown bread should be a mighty good way of getting rid of some of this huge crop.

This year we are asked to use more beans in our daily diet.

Eating more beans is a fine way to help the local bean growers.

A SPENDTHRIFT PROGRAM

The nation's tax bill is advancing steadily to new highs as the national income drops. The United States supreme court recently held that the United States government can loan money to municipalities to build municipal electric plants to compete with private plants, and also that the government can give donations to municipalities for the same purpose, which need never be paid back, as it is doing through the public works administration.

In an interview in the Portland Oregonian, United States Senator McNary, in commenting on the Tennessee Valley Authority, says: "For more than six months I have endeavored to receive information from TVA in vain. No one, apparently, knows how much government money has been spent there. Some estimate $200,000,000. I have run across some figures that are interesting. For instance, these figures say that $170,000,000 of government money has been spent in TVA. Of this sum, $148,000,000 has been charged off to flood control and navigation—although navigation is a joke. Another $8,000,000 has been charged to fertilizer plant, and almost $3,000,000 to experiments, and so on. Of the $170,000,000 only $10,000,000 is allocated to electricity. Think of a project essentially for hydro-electric power in which $170,000,000 has been expended and only $10,000,000 charged to generating electricity, and the rate schedule based on this comparatively insignificant amount."

These things are done and being done at a time when congress professes that it is trying to economize private industrial activity. Public money is poured into publicly owned power plants which pay no taxes, absorb the taxpayers' resources and duplicate existing power facilities.

In contrast to such a spendthrift program take the recent tax payments of one privately owned power company in this state—which are similar to tax payments of companies all over the United States. It is paying in one year to the federal government, the state, 43 counties and 130 cities and towns in which it operates $15,000,000 in taxes—$41,000 a day. It is financed with private capital, pays dividends to thousands of private investors and has to dig up taxes to help finance a government-owned power program that may well cause the ultimate destruction of its own private investments.

What kind of a "yardstick" do publicly subsidized, tax exempt, municipal or government electric plants make, with which to measure rates that must be charged by highly taxed, privately financed power companies?

FRANKLIN MAKES COMMENT

On January 14, we submitted a group of questions to Jay Franklin to answer. We now have his answers, and we reproduce the questions together with answers and further questions:

We asked Jay Franklin the following questions to his contention that "all that General Motors, Chrysler and Ford wanted (referring to a year ago) was the right to keep their factories running, the right to give jobs to workers without outside dictation, the right to keep on making automobiles":

(1) Whether or not these corporations, together with other corporations, have been granted this right by the government? Has not the government assumed the responsibility of being the final authority as to whom the automobile manufacturers had a right to discharge?

Mr. Franklin answers, "No." (We presume he is answering the latter question.)

(a) We would ask Mr. Franklin what the national labor relations board means, if it does not give the government's representative the final authority to be the judge as to whether the man is being discharged for inefficiency or for union activity?

(b) Can the government's representative determine whether a man is being discharged for union activity or incompetency, if the employer contends discharge is for inefficiency and the discharged man claims it is for union activity, without determining the efficiency of the worker?

(c) If your answer is yes, explain how.

(d) If your answer is "no," then how can you answer "no" to question No. 1 if you attempt to be rational?

(e) Would this, then, not in the final analysis give the government the right to determine whether an employee could be discharged?

Government Final Say

To determine whether or not under the labor relations act the government has the final say as to whether or not a man is discharged for incompetency or labor activity, let us approach the problem from another angle.

(b) The employee working for a firm producing interstate commerce cannot legally be discharged for labor activity, can he? (If your answer is yes, cite the law.)

(g) Is it possible to prove any negative without proving a positive?

(h) If your answer is "yes," give example.

(i) If your answer is "no," then in order to have the legal right to discharge an employee it would be necessary for the employer to prove to the government representative, if the employee objected to the discharge, that the employee was not satisfactory on other grounds than union activity, would it not?

(j) Then the government in the final analysis would be the judge as to whether or not the employee could be discharged, would it not?

(k) Then if the government has the right to determine if a man may be discharged, how can you rationally say the motor car companies have been given the right to keep their factories running without outside dictation?

(2) Have the employers been permitted by the government to use the fruits of successful production in giving jobs without having from 40 to 90 per cent of their gain confiscated in the form of taxes without anything given in return?

Mr. Franklin answers, "yes."

(a) Does Mr. Franklin mean in his answer that they do not have to pay as high as 40 to 90 per cent tax or does he mean to answer that the government does not tax without giving something in return?

(b) What does the government give the employer in return for the tax on earnings and undistributed profits that the employer who operates without making a profit does not get from the government?

(c) The profit is due to management is it not?

(d) Does the government give the successful, taxed man the "good management"?

(e) What personal benefit does the employer get by adding to the wealth of the world, when he does not consume it, other than the feeling that he might need it later or of benefiting humanity?

(3) Would you, Mr. Franklin, hold people responsible without giving them the right to use their best judgment in attempting to work to the general welfare to furnish employment at good wages?

Mr. Franklin answers "No."

(4) Do you know of any place in history where a man can be held responsible without giving him freedom of decision?

Mr. Franklin answers "No."

(a) Is not a business being held responsible for furnishing goods and employment without it having authority if the government has a right to determine whether the employee is efficient enough that he cannot be discharged for inefficiency?

(b) Has not the national labor relations board repeatedly ordered employers to reinstate workers after a trial when the employer contended they were discharged for inefficiency?

Questions and answers continued in tomorrow's issue.

SURPRISING

As we hear so much nowadays of the tyranny, the ruthlessness and corruption of the big industrialists, a statement made by William Graham Sumner 50 years ago might be astounding.

He relates how the employers attempt in every possible way to continue employing the workmen when driven to consider the necessity of closing or reducing hours. They go on, and take risk and trouble on themselves in working through bad times, rather than close their works, unless absolutely necessary.

He says, "The whole class of those who have are quick in their sympathy for any form of distress or suffering. They are too quick. Their sympathies need regulating, not stimulating. They are more likely to give away capital recklessly than to withhold it stingily when any alleged case of misfortune is before them."

This might seem strange, judging from the continual attacks on employers.

The Senate Record

General Hugh S. JOHNSON Says

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The President's armament request could be improved upon only by asking much more.

"Adequate defense means that we must keep any potential enemy many hundred miles away from our continental limits. We cannot assume that our defense would be limited to one ocean and one coast." That states our military and naval problem in a nutshell.

No nation will undertake modern major war unless assured, by relative superiority of fire-power at critical points, or at least a 60-40 chance of victory. No nation can have any such assurance on this continent if we maintain superior sea-power in American waters "many hundred miles away from our continental limits."

The policy is plainly purely defensive. As long as we seek no superiority of sea-power, many "thousand miles from our continental limits," we can't wage offensive war against other great nations in their home waters, for the same reason that they can't wage offensive war against our superior sea-power in our own waters.

Demands that the President justify his policy by disclosing just what threats he is guarding against are thin political porridge. It is enough to say that we can't risk any naval defeat or disaster in waters between our Pacific Coast and a line drawn from Unalakleet through Honolulu to the southern boundary of Peru. If we are insured against that, no nation will attack us. If we are not so insured, there is continuing and increasing danger.

In the Atlantic we can't risk any military or naval judgment by gangster Fascist nations, like Italy of Germany, in any such Fascist state as Brazil or Santo Domingo. If we came to grips in the Pacific, we couldn't rely on the naval powers of France, or even England, to protect our Atlantic Coast. They might have troubles of their own and anyway the price might be too high.

We can never forget that the moment we got caught in the Civil War, the current racketeer dictator, Napoleon III, had Mexico under a fascist government almost before one could say "Maximilian." The land-hungry nations can see no richer field than the Americas. Their presence in the Western Hemisphere is utterly inconsistent with our peace. If they come, we, too, must become a militarized nation. Japan, Germany and Italy are in a loose league arming as fast as possible with an avowed intention to grab land. Now is the time to prevent our living in an armed camp—from now on.

It is petty piffing stuff to ask the President to draw a diagram of what an informed observer can overlook. Even apart from what is thus plain—when through super-armament and universal international tension, attack is even remotely possible, no commander-in-chief should be called upon to imagine just how or when or where it will come. Who, in July, 1914, could have projected the course of the World War from Sarajevo?

The rigidly defensive nature of the proposals is disclosed in the Army recommendations. Our land preparedness is insignificant. $2,000,000 for reserve ammunition! We fired away more than that in a single hour of the St. Mihiel battle, $5,000,000 for jigs, gauges and dies and fixtures for manufacture. It costs more than that to tool up for a single new automobile model. $6,800,000 for anti-aircraft artillery. On World War ratios, that wouldn't equip an anti-aircraft force of 2000 men, $450,000 for an enlisted reserve. It wouldn't provide a brigade.

All American shipyards are scheduled to capacity for months. As yet, the President's program is not much more than an expression of intent. But the intent and the "foreign policy" his critics are yammering at him to disclose are plain enough. They are: "In a world ravaged by armed maniacal murderer nations, we purpose to keep the peace of this continent." (Copyright, 1938, by United Feature Syndicate, Inc. notes, preconceptions and misconceptions?

We are facing a social crisis. We should be endeavoring to find a solution. It is foolish to limit our outlook to the ideas of the biblical writers. It is pathetic to preach coming judgment, millennium, or wholesale murder as prophesied in the Bible. The writers recorded those ideas, not because they knew the inerrant program of God, but because they voiced the popular views of that particular age.

We do not assault the Bible for destructive reasons, or needlessly. Man is controlled by his subconscious mind, and before we can regenerate society, we have to liberate the mind from kinks, especially religious kinks. There is nothing mystical nor supernatural in social regeneration. It is the determination to use common sense, and dare to begin all over again. Why should we be looking to the skies for a solution, when within ourselves we can find the answer?

We must not forget, the apostles were influenced by Greek mythology in their writings. The prophetic outlook of Aristotle was recorded by Peter as the Word of God, but it did not necessarily become true, or even sensible. The philosophy of Plato and his theory of a Utopian Republic were reshaped by John in the book of Revelation, but the viewpoint did not become verbally inspired nor inerrant.

We are supposed to be intelligent beings, with powers of self-determination. It is foolish to develop an inferiority complex. Why should we "fear" God? What virtue is there in being afraid to think, act, or speak? It was a misconception of the ancients, but it ought not to be ours.

If we read nature, we discover we are living in a friendly world. The birds do not depend upon a sacred book to learn when to migrate. The animals do not read a biblical fetish to know the mating season. Certainly, we are not created with less intelligence. If we desire, we too can tune in with the Infinite. We need not depend on authority for our standards of truth. This being true, every editorial or article in a newspaper can be as inspired and sacred as the contents of the Holy Bible. Inspiration rests with ideas, not words. It is more sensible to discover for ourselves the ideas of the Infinite, than study the viewpoints of Jewish writers. Our guess should be more practical demonstrable than theirs. But dare we take the adventure? EDWIN O. COLBECK.

News Behind the News

By PAUL MALLON

World Copyright 1938 by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—Rumor is going around that Mr. Roosevelt is only fooling about these new navy ships. Suggestions are being well planted that he does not intend to build them. "He only submitted the plan to congress so he could have a blueprint weapon for international dickering"—they say.

If the president is fooling, he has fooled not only congressional leaders but navy admirals. Everyone who has talked at the White House is convinced the president was never more earnest. Furthermore the congressional leaders as well as the admirals are convinced the ships are needed.

They will be built.

Around-the-bush language in the president's message was apparently adopted for international purposes, primarily.

It reflects the inside fact that the navy has become so touchy about ship specifications that it has quietly discontinued publication of its old regularly revealing paper, "Ship's Data."

The admirals (likewise the president) feel that since Japan withdrew from the naval agreement, the democracies have been placed at a disadvantage to the dictatorships in the matter of protecting military secrets. Under the democratic system of handling budgets, foreign nations have found out all they want to know about our plans and specifications, while their secret budgets protect them from similar disclosures.

This official impression is widely accepted in congress, which undoubtedly is inclined to cooperate with the executive branch of the government in disclosing no more than necessary to fill requirements of a democratic form of government.

The president's explanation that his new fleet is desired to protect both North American coastlines does not rule out new official extension of the conception of the American frontier to include this entire hemisphere. The admirals understand that. So does congress. The type of ships to be built readily disclose the unmentioned purpose to naval experts.

If this fact were officially sponsored, however, it might be interpreted as building against Japan, Germany and Italy.

While Germany, Italy and Japan have recently made in-roads below the equator in this hemisphere, it is quite conceivable that other nations may be in the movement (Russia for one) before the ships are finished.

Deep down within the cloture vote in the senate you will find expressed precisely the whole inner situation of the democratic party. The division on cloture for the lynching bill was almost exactly the same as the original split in the election of Leader Barkley last summer. Barkley was chosen for the White House over Pat Harrison by 38 to 37. There were 35 Dems for cloture to get the lynching bill through, 37 against. The same roll call has been repeated more or less definitely on every important vote since then.

It expresses again the passive resistance of the smart old-timers to New Deal leadership; and the fact that the new-timers are unable to take control for themselves, except when they get Republican votes.

The secret of the lynching bill argument is no secret at all. Negroes are said to hold a balance of voting power between Democrats and Republicans only in New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois. It has been estimated authoritatively that in 1936 the Dems received close to 75 per cent of this Negro vote.

Senator Steiwer's resignation completely astonished his Republican associates. They are grumbling that he should have served out his term despite his health. Now a Democrat will be appointed and gain prestige which will give him an advantage over a Republican seeking the Oregon seat. Not even the close friend and colleague of the former Republican keynoter, Senator McNary, knew of Steiwer's intention to move up his resignation date.

Those "experimental ships" which Mr. R. was so vague about in his message are to be mosquito boats mostly. The Italians have had some success with small high speed boats carrying one torpedo. These are only good for coast line defense and are dangerous to occupants as well as the enemy. But the Italians have used them with success against some very large ships.

The navy can build a lot of mosquito boats for the $15,000,000 to be appropriated.

Most popular of the president's new military recommendations in congress was the proposed increase for army anti-aircraft guns. The U. S. has the best gun in the world, but only one battery now.

Much ado has been made here among the cocktail lounging diplomats over the secret appearance of former Ambassador Dodd before the house foreign affairs committee. Truth is Dodd delivered the same lecture in private as he has been delivering in public on the lecture platforms.

WE, THE PEOPLE

By JAY FRANKLIN

DOWN WITH "INSTITUTES"

WASHINGTON, D. C.—I am tired of "Institutes." It is about time that the public relations men found a new name for these peculiar activities. I suspect that "Foundation" will be the next name to be chosen.

Back in the '30's they called them "Trusts." That sounded pretty fine—hands clasped in mutual confidence, shared integrity and trust-ship at the helm, rock-bottom honesty and all. But when things didn't work out right for the common man and you got a raucous demand for anti-trust laws, something had to be done.

By the time T. R. got through with them, the Trusts had disappeared. In their places arose "Associations." What could be fairer than an association? All men brothers, cooperating willingly together for their mutual good, etc. Unfortunately, the associations became so very like the old bad trusts that with N. R. A. everything had to be changed. What came out of it was a flock of Institutes—the Iron & Steel Institute, the Edison Institute which replaced the N. E. L. A., and so forth.

Institute is a fine word. It suggests science, it suggests a bearded doctor with a scalpel or a hypodermic or something very precise and measured leaning over an anaesthetized guinea pig or gazing rapt and stary-eyed at the contents of a sterile test-tube. It suggests Vienna and Dr. Freud and magnificent disinterestedness. Alas for the name, these "Institutes" don't seem to be any more scientific and disinterested than were the "Trusts" trustworthy and the "Associations" friendly expressions of our fundamental democracy.

So, I contend, the time has come to call the skunk-cabbage by another name, which may smell a little sweeter for a time. For this purpose I cannot too strongly recommend the word "Foundation." It suggests great and massive dignity, impressive resources, far-sighted humanitarianism. After all there is the Carnegie Foundation and the Rockefeller Foundation and, if I am not mistaken, the Alfred P. Sloan Foundation. There is something irrevocably just about a Foundation. The Bureau of Internal Revenue wins as it approaches a bunch of incomes labeled by this elephantine and immaculate title. "Foundation" says: "Here is a man who has unselfishly alienated some of his own wealth for a noble purpose. Tax it at your peril for thereby you are taxing all humanitarian and charitable good works."

Where John L. Lewis made his mistake was in not calling his C. I.

O. the "John L. Lewis Foundation for the Promotion of a Better Understanding Between Industry and Labor." It is not too late for others to profit by his omission. Almost any day now I expect to hear of the Frank Hague Foundation for the Preservation of the Right to Work and of the Tom Girdler Foundation for Applied Police Methods. Perhaps in time the Republican Party can reorganize itself as the Abraham Lincoln Foundation for the Protection of Private enterprise and the Bill of Rights.

The field is limitless and, such is the inertia of the public mind, it will be several years before people realize that these lovely labels are no guarantee that their contents will taste any better than the old bitter medicine of the past.

And here's another thing. Why shouldn't the government incorporate itself under the laws of the State of Delaware and enter the Tennessee Valley Authority, for example, sounds too harsh and arbitrary. "Authority," forsooth? Are Americans doing that they should submit to bureaucratic regimentation? The private utilities could be baffled for a decade if T. V. A. called itself the Foundation for the More Abundant Life and entered battle in the courts behind a skirmishing line of windows, orphans and other underprivileged citizens of this Great Republic.
